CHAPTER 1 - BIRTH PANGS: EMERGENCE OF LIBERATION THEOLOGY

On historical matters see Enrique Dussel, A History of the Church in Latin America: Colonialism to Liberation (1492-1979) (Grand Rapids, Mich.: William B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1981); and Pablo Richard, Morte das Cristiandades e Nascimento da Igreja (São Paulo: Paulinas, 1984; translation forthcoming from Orbis Books). On las Casas and the other bishops who defended the Indians, see Enrique Dussel, El Episcopado Latinoamericano y la Liberación de los Pobres 1504-1620 (Mexico City: CRT [Centro de Reflexión Teológica], 1979), esp. pp. 325-34.

On Camilo Torres see Walter J. Broderick, Camilo Torres: A Biography of the Priest-Guerrillero (Garden City, N.Y.: Doubleday, 1975). Quote from “Mensaje a los Cristianos” in Camilo Torres, Cristianismo y Revolución, ed. Oscar Maldonado, Guitemie Olivieri, and Germán Zabala (Mexico City: Ediciones Era, 1970), p. 525.

Paul VI quote: Populorum Progressio, in Joseph Gremillion, ed., The Gospel of Peace and Justice (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1976), p. 396.

Medellín documents: CELAM, La Iglesia en la Actual Transformación de América Latina a la Luz del Concilio, Vol. II—Conclusiones (Bogotá: CELAM, 1969), p. 43. (Henceforth cited as “Medellín.”)

For a survey of the early phase of liberation theology: Phillip Berryman, “Latin American Liberation Theology,” in Sergio Torres and John Eagleson, eds., Theology in the Americas (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1976), pp. 20–83. The article by Methol Ferre, “Iglesia y Sociedad Opulenta, Una Crítica a Suenens Desde América Latina,” was a special supplement to the Uruguayan magazine Víspera.

On Christians for Socialism: John Eagleson, ed., Christians and Socialism: Documentation of the Christians for Socialism Movement in Latin America (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1975), esp. the final document, pp. 160–75; quote from p. 174.

CHAPTER 2 – GOING TO THE POOR

Beting remark: Frei Betto, Fidel e a Religião: Conversas com Frei Betto (São Paulo: Editora Brasiliense, 1985), p. 56.

On poverty as theological theme: Gustavo Gutiérrez, A Theology of Liberation (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1973), pp. 287ff. Quote from p. 300. Medellín quote, document on poverty, par. 5, p. 209.

Freire presents his ideas most systematically in Pedagogy of the Op- pressed (New York: Herder & Herder, 1970), and Education for Critical Consciousness (New York: The Seabury Press, 1973).

For a sense of evangelization/concientización see Pastoral Team of Bambamarca, Vamos Caminando: A Peruvian Catechism (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1985). This book, which contains dozens of discussion outlines, is a fine example of this kind of pedagogy. Most lessons have a case study set within a fictionalized area of highlands Peru with suggestive questions for discussion. Some discussions begin with a Scripture passage.

Puebla document: John Eagleson and Philip Sharper, eds., Puebla and Beyond: Documentation and Commentary, trans. John Drury (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1979), pars. 28, 1209, 1134. (Henceforth cited as "Puebla.")

CHAPTER 3 – MIRROR OF LIFE: THE BIBLE READ BY THE POOR

Biblical quotations are adapted from the New American Bible.

Transcripts of several years of group biblical reflections by a group of fishing families and peasants together with the poet Ernesto Cardenal are found in Ernesto Cardenal, The Gospel in Solentiname, 4 vols. (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1982).

Prophecy: Jon Sobrino, Monseñor Romero: Verdadero Profeta (Managua: IHCA-CAV, 1981). Puebla, par. 267.

Frei Betto quote in Guillermo Cook, The Expectation of the Poor: Latin American Basic Ecclesial Communities in Protestant Perspective (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1985), p. 110.

The most systematic exposition of the principles of interpretation underlying liberation theology are found in Clodovis Boff, Teologia e Prática: Teologia do Político e Suas Mediações (Petrópolis, Brazil: Vozes, 1978), esp. sec. 2, pp. 131-271. For a shorter treatment see J. Severino Croatto, "Biblical Hermeneutics in the Theologies of Liberation," in Virginia Fabella and Sergio Torres, eds., Irruption of the Third World: Challenge to Theology (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1983), pp. 140-70; and Croatto, Exodus: A Hermeneutics of Freedom (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1981).

CHAPTER 4 - A NEW MODEL OF CHURCH: CHRISTIAN BASE COMMUNITIES

The figures on numbers of base communities seem to be a rough estimation or even an extrapolation. There is a surprising dearth of research on base communities. In Ecclesiogenesis: The Base Communities Reinvent the Church (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1986) pp. 3ff., Leonardo Boff cites the incident in Barra do Piraí as their starting point. Scott Mainwaring, The Catholic Church and Politics in Brazil, 1916-1982 (dissertation; publication forthcoming), says none of today's communities can be traced back further than approximately 1963. On base communities see Cook, The Expectation of the Poor.

Aguilares statistics: Salvador Carranza, "Aguilares, una Experiencia de Evangelización Rural Parroquial," ECA, nos. 348/349 (October-November 1977): 845; and UCA Editores, Rutilio Grande: Mártir de la Evangelización Rural en El Salvador (San Salvador: UCA Editores, 1978), p. 75.

On basismo see Scott Mainwaring, "The Catholic Church, Popular Education, and Political Change in Brazil," Journal of Interamerican Studies and World Affairs 26, no. 1 (February 1984): 97-124.

On national meetings of base communities in Brazil, see Leonardo Boff, Ecclesiogenesis, pp. 35ff. See also J. B. Libanio, "Igreja: Povo Oprimido que se Organiza para a Liberatação," Revista Eclesiastica Brasileira 41, fasc. 16 (June 1981) pp. 297-311; and Clodovis

Boff, "Crônica do V Encontro Intereclesial de Comunidades de Base (Canindé, CE, 04 a 08-07-1983)," Revista Eclesiastica Brasileira 43, fasc. 171 (September 1983) pp. 471–93.

On new missionary activity by base community members: Joseph Comblin, "O Novo Ministerio de Missionario na America Latina," in Revista Eclesiastica Brasileira 40, fasc. 160 (December 1980) pp. 626–55.

Puebla on base communities, pars. 261, 630.

CHAPTER 5 – FEET - ON - THE - GROUND : FROM EXPERIENCE TO THEOLOGY

Clodovis Boff's "theological journal": Teologia Pê-No-Chão (Petrópolis, Brazil: Vozes, 1984; translation forthcoming from Orbis Books). Methodology: Teologia e Prática: Teologia do Político e Suas Mediações (Petrópolis, Brazil: Vozes, 1978).

Sobrino essay: "Unity and Conflict in the Church" in Jon Sobrino, The True Church and the Poor (Maryknoll N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984), pp. 194–227.

Segundo essay: "Two Theologies of Liberation," The Month (London), October 1984, pp. 321–27.

Boff distinctions on social science: Teologia e Prática, pp. 122ff. Quote of Leonardo Boff from Leonardo and Clodovis Boff, Salvation and Liberation (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984), p. 50.

Prebisch quote is cited in Ronald H. Chilcote, Theories of Development and Under-development (Boulder, Colo.: Westview Press, 1984), p. 26. Chilcote's book provides a useful outline of the dependence discussion, as does his Theories of Comparative Politics: The Search for a Paradigm (Boulder, Colo.: Westview Press, 1981).

Segundo quote: Rosino Gibellini, ed., Frontiers of Theology in Latin America (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1979), pp. 249-50.

On Nicaraguan economic strategy: Michael E. Conroy, "Economic Legacy and Policies: Performance and Critique," in Thomas W. Walker, ed., Nicaragua: The First Five Years (New York: Praeger, 1985), pp. 219-44. For an important theoretical study see E. V. K. FitzGerald, "Planned Accumulation and Income Distribution in the Small Peripheral Economy," in George Irvin and Xabier Gorostiaga, eds., Towards an Alternative for Central America and the Caribbean (London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985), pp. 95-110. See also Joseph Collins, Frances Moore Lappé, and Nick Allen, Nicaragua: What Difference Could a Revolution Make?, rev. ed. (San Francisco: Institute for Food and Development Policy, 1985).

Populorum Progressio quote: Joseph Gremillion, ed., The Gospel of Peace and Justice (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books), par. 21, p. 393 (translation slightly modified).

Gutiérrez quotes: Gutiérrez, A Theology of Liberation, pp. 36-37.

For a very illuminating comparison between liberation theology and "critical theory," see Joseph Kroger, "Prophetic-Critical and Practical-Strategic Tasks of Theology: Habermas and Liberation Theology," Theological Studies 46 (1985): 3-20.

CHAPTER 6 - CAPTIVITY AND HOPE: SHIFTING CONTEXTS OF LIBERATION THEOLOGY

The best account of the experience of the church during the 1970s is Penny Lernoux, Cry of the People: The Struggle for Human Rights in Latin America—the Catholic Church in Conflict with U.S. Policy (New York: Penguin, 1982). Enrique Dussel, De Medellín a Puebla: Una Década de Sangre y Esperanza 1968-1979 (Mexico City: Edicol, 1979) gathers a great deal of valuable material.

Vekemans and the CIA: Lernoux, Cry of the People, p. 26. Statistics on murdered church people: Ibid., pp. 463ff.

“Banzer Plan”: Ibid., pp. 142–47.

CHAPTER 7 – THE INFINITE WORTH OF THE POOR: A CRITICAL VISION OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Guatemalan bishops’ quote: “Unidos en la Esperanza,” in UCA Editores, Los Obispos Latinoamericanos Entre Medellín y Puebla: Documentos Episcopales 1968–1979 (San Salvador: UCA Editores, 1978), p. 183. For a massive collection of episcopal statements cf. José Marins, Teolide M. Trevisán, and Carolee Chanoma, Praxis de los Padres de América Latina: Los Documentos de las Conferencias Episcopales de Medellín a Puebla (1968–1978) Bogotá: Paulinas, 1978).

DEI publications: Hugo Assmann, ed., Carter y la Lógica del Imperialismo 2 vols., (San José, Costa Rica: EDUCA, 1978); and Elsa Tamez and Saul Trinidad, eds., Capitalismo: Violencia y Anti-Vida—La Opresión de las Mayorías y la Domesticación de los Dioses, 2 vols. (San José, Costa Rica: EDUCA, 1978). Segundo essay in Capitalismo, vol. 2, pp. 339–53: quote from p. 348.

On the national security state: Bishop Cândido Padín, “A Doctrina da Segurança Nacional,” Revista Eclesiástica Brasileira 37, fasc. 146 (June 1977) pp. 331–42. Joseph Comblin, The Church and the National Security State, passim, esp. chaps. 4–6; his theological critique of national security ideology is found on pp. 88ff. Puebla on national security ideology, pars. 314, 547, 1262.

Documents of bishops of northeastern and central western Brazil: UCA Editores, eds., Los Obispos Latinoamericanos, pp. 40ff. and 64ff; quotes on pp. 62, 71.

CHAPTER 8 – TAKING SIDES: FAITH, POLITICS, AND IDEOLOGY

Vatican II quote: “Pastoral Constitution on the Church in the Modern World,” in Walter M. Abbot, ed., The Documents in Vatican II (New York: America Press, 1966), par. 76, p. 287.

Paul VI: Octogesima Adveniens, in Gremillion, The Gospel of Peace and Justice, pars. 24–36, pp. 497–501. Puebla on politics, pars. 513–30.

On church and popular organizations: Phillip Berryman, The Religious Roots of Rebellion: Christians in Central American Revolutions (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984), chaps. 4–6 and pp. 337ff.

Discussion of ideologies: The “Caracas theologians” remained anonymous presumably for security reasons and perhaps to avoid unnecessary problems with church authorities. The discussion of ideologies is to be found in Iglesia Que Nace del Pueblo: Reflexiones y Problemas (Mexico City: Centro de Reflexión Teológica, 1978), pp. 30ff. Puebla on ideologies, pars. 535ff.

Christendom discussion: Pablo Richard, Morte das Cristiandades e Nascimento da Igreja: Analise Historica e Interpretação Teológica da Igreja na America Latina (São Paulo: Paulinas, 1984). The original form is Mort des Chrétientés et Naissance de l’Église (Paris: Centre Lebret, 1978). His reflection on Nicaragua is found in “Identidad Eclesial en el Proceso Revolucionario,” in CAV-IHCA (Centro Antonio Valdiviesco-Instituto Histórico Centroamericano), Apuntes para una Teología Nicaragüense, (Managua: CAV-IHCA, 1981), pp. 91–103. Comblin on christendom: O Tempo da Ação: Ensaio sobre o Espírito e a História (Petrópolis, Brazil: Vozes, 1982), chap. 4, “O Desafio da Cristiandade.”

CHAPTER 9 – UTILIZING MARXISM: OBSERVATIONS ON PRACTICE AND THEOLOGY

“Polite relationship” remark: Juan Luis Segundo, Theology and the Church: A Response to Cardinal Ratzinger and a Warning to the Whole Church (Minneapolis: Seabury-Winston, 1985), p. 91.

Use of Marxism: Caracas theologians, Iglesia Que Nace del Pueblo, pp. 42–59.

On the church in Nicaragua the literature is immense. See Berryman, Religious Roots, Chap. 8; and Michael Dodson and Laura Nuzzi O’Shaughnessy, “Religion and Politics,” in Walker, ed., Nicaragua: The First Five Years, pp. 119–43. For a well-written attack on the Sandinistas and Christians who support the revolution, see Humberto Belli, Breaking Faith: The Sandinista Revolution and its Impact on Freedom and Christian Faith in Nicaragua (Garden City, Mich.: Puebla Institute, 1985). For the theological rationale for active Christian involvement, see Berryman, Religious Roots, passim, esp. pp. 354ff.; and Juan Hernandez Pico, “The Experience of Nicaragua’s Revolutionary Christians,” in Sergio Torres and John Eagleson, eds., The Challenge of Basic Christian Communities (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1981), pp. 62–73. See also IHCA, Fe Cristiana y Revolución Sandinista en Nicaragua (Managua: IHCA, 1979); IHCA-CAV, Apuntes para una Teología Nicaragüense (San José, Costa Rica: DEI, 1981); and the two works edited by Teófilo Cabestrero, Ministers of God, Ministers of the People (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984) and Revolutionaries for the Gospel: Testimonies of Fifteen Christians in the Nicaraguan Government (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1986). For criticism of the revolution see IHCA-CAV, Los Cristianos Interpelan a la Revolución: Fidelidad Crítica en el Proceso de Nicaragua (Managua: IHCA-CAV, 1981). This short book has the text of the document prepared by the primarily middle-class Christians for the revolution that reflected on seven challenges, and the responses by Christians and Sandinistas at the conference following two months of grass-roots discussion.

Theologians dealing with Marxism: José Porfirio Miranda, Marx and the Bible: A Critique of the Philosophy of Oppression (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1974); Communism in the Bible (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1982); Marx Against the Marxists (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1980).

Fetishism: Franz Hinkelammert, The Ideological Weapons of Death (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1986). Hugo Assmann, “O Uso de Símbolos Bíblicos em Marx,” Revista Eclesiástica Brasileira 45, fasc. 178 (June 1985); quote from Assmann, p. 329.

CHAPTER 10 - GOD OF LIFE: THE RELIGIOUS VISION OF LIBERATION THEOLOGY

On idolatry: See Pablo Richard et al., The Battle of the Gods (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984), esp. Jon Sobrino, “The Epiphany of the God of Life in Jesus Christ,” pp. 66–102. Sobrino expresses similar ideas on transcendence in “Dios y los Procesos Revolucionarios,” in CAV-IHCA, Apuntes para una Teología Nicaragüense, pp. 105–29.

Church and kingdom: Virtually all theologians deal with this theme. It is a unifying point of the essays of Ignacio Ellacuría collected in Conversión de la Iglesia al Reino de Dios: Para Anunciarlo y Realizarlo en la Historia (San Salvador: UCA Editores, 1985).

Sobrino quote: “The Witness of the Church in Latin America,” in Torres and Eagleson, eds., The Challenge of Basic Christian Communities, p. 166.

CHAPTER 11 – OTHER ACCENTS: THIRD WORLD, BLACK, HISPANIC, AND FEMINIST THEOLOGIES

Third World theological dialogue is documented in volumes emerging from conferences of EATWOT (Ecumenical Association of Third World Theologians), all published by Orbis Books: Sergio Torres and Virginia Fabella, eds., The Emergent Gospel: Theology from the Underside of History (1978); Kofi Appiah-Kubi and Sergio Torres, eds., African Theology En Route (1978); Virginia Fabella, ed., Asia's Struggle for a Full Humanity (1980); Sergio Torres and John Eagleson, eds., The Challenge of Basic Christian Communities (1981); Virginia Fabella and Sergio Torres, eds., Irruption of the Third World: Challenge to Theology (1983); and Fabella and Torres, eds., Doing Theology in a Divided World (1985). "Irruption" passage from Fabella and Torres, eds., Irruption, p. 195.

Minjung theology: Fabella and Torres, eds., Irruption, p. 70.

Tissa Balasuriya, Planetary Theology (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984).

Pieris essays: "Towards an Asian Theology of Liberation: Some Religio-Cultural Guidelines," in Fabella, eds., Asia's Struggle, pp. 75–95; and "The Place of Non-Christian Religions and Cultures in the Evolution of Third World Theology," in Fabella and Torres, eds., Irruption, pp. 113–39.

Black theology: Many documents and essays are collected in Gayraud S. Wilmore and James H. Cone, eds., Black Theology: A Documentary History, 1966–1979 (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1979). For My People: Black Theology and the Black Church (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1984) represents a recent statement of James Cone's positions. Quote from Wilmore and Cone, eds., Black Theology, p. 101. See also Allan Aubrey Boesak, Farewell to Innocence: A Socio-Ethical Study on Black Theology and Power (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1977).

Hispanic church and theology: Antonio M. Arroyo, ed., Prophets Denied Honor: An Anthology on the Hispanic Church in the United States (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1980). Virgilio Elizondo, Galilean Journey: The Mexican-American Promise (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1983).

Feminist theology: Cora Ferro, "The Latin American Woman: The Praxis and Theology of Liberation," in Torres and Eagleson, eds., The Challenge, pp. 24–37; quote from p. 33. Elisabeth Schüssler-Fiorenza, "'You Are Not to Be Called Father': Early Christian History in a Feminist Perspective," and Luise Schottroff, "Women as Followers of Jesus in New Testament Times: An Exercise in Social-Historical Exegesis of the Bible," both in Norman K. Gottwald, ed., The Bible and Liberation: Political and Social Hermeneutics (Maryknoll, N.Y.: Orbis Books, 1983), pp. 394–417, 418–27. Rosemary Radford Ruether, Sexism and God-Talk: Toward a Feminist Theology (Boston: Beacon Press, 1983), esp. pp. 61, 66, 85, 138, 232–33, 254, 257.

CHAPTER 12 – DOES IT LIBERATE? OBJECTIONS TO LIBERATION THEOLOGY

Critiques of liberation theology: CELAM, Liberación: Diálogos en el CELAM (Bogotá: Secretariado General del CELAM, 1974). The contributions of López Trujillo, Poblete, and Kloppenburg summarize the main objections well. James V. Schall, ed., Liberation Theology in Latin America (San Francisco: Ignatius Press, 1982) is also a good summary. Gerard Berghoef and Lester DeKoster, Liberation Theology: The Church's Future Shock—Explanation, Analysis, Critique, Alternative, provides an evangelical critique. Michael Novak argues his position in, "The Case Against Liberation Theology," New York Times Magazine, October 21, 1984; p. 51ff.; The Spirit of Democratic Capitalism (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1982), esp. pp. 272–314; Freedom with Justice: Catholic Social

Thought and Liberal Institutions (San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1984), esp. pp. 183-94.

Wolf reference: Eric R. Wolf, Europe and the People Without History (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1982). Ramos' essays "Reflections on Gustavo Gutiérrez's Theology of Liberation," "Dependency and Development: An Attempt to Clarify the Issues," "On the Prospects for Social Market Democracy—or Democratic Capitalism—in Latin America," and "Latin America: The End of Democratic Reformism?" as well as Sergio Molina and Sebastian Piñera, "Extreme Poverty in Latin America," are found in Michael Novak, ed., Liberation South, Liberation North (Washington, D.C.: American Enterprise Institute, 1981). Novak quote from The Spirit of Democratic Capitalism, p. 278.

Physical quality of life index: Morris David Morris, Measuring the Condition of the World's Poor: The Physical Quality of Life Index (New York: Pergamon Press, 1979), esp. data on pp. 130-32.

On Cuba: Claes Brundenius, "Development Strategies and Basic Needs in Revolutionary Cuba," in Claes Brundenius and Mats Lundahl, eds., Development Strategies and Basic Needs in Latin America: Challenges for the 1980s (Boulder, Colo.: Westview Press, 1982), p. 156. For data comparing Brazil, Peru, and Cuba, see table, p. 156. See also Joseph Collins and Medea Benjamin, No Free Lunch: Food and Agriculture Policy in Cuba (San Francisco: Institute for Food and Development Policy, 1983).

Ratzinger letter: The instruction itself is found in the National Catholic Reporter, September 21, 1984; references follow paragraphing. Juan Luis Segundo, Theology and the Church: A Response to Cardinal Ratzinger and a Warning to the Whole Church (Minneapolis: Seabury-Winston, 1985).
