

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

- The American South: The Continuity of Self-Definition 3
Louis D. Rubin, Jr.

A CHANGING CULTURE

- 1 Instant Grits and Plastic-Wrapped Crackers:
Southern Culture and Regional Development 25
John Shelton Reed
- 2 Southern Politics: Old Style and New 37
William C. Havard, Jr.
- 3 Growing Up in the Deep South—A Conversation 59
Eudora Welty,
Shelby Foote, and
Louis D. Rubin, Jr.
- 4 Black Folk of the American South: Two Portraits 93
Mary E. Mebane
- 5 Growing Up Black in the Old South and the New—or,
Mr. Wheat Goes with the Wind 109
Blyden Jackson
- 6 Religion, the "Bible Belt," and the Modern South 119
Thomas Daniel Young
- 7 The Southern Outdoors: Bassboats and Bearhunts 129
James Seay
- 8 Rednecks on Wheels: The Stock Car Culture 141
Sylvia Wilkinson

- 9 Southern Country Music: A Brief Eulogy 153
Katie Letcher Lyle
- 10 The Resurgence of Southern Identity 169
George B. Tindall

LITERARY IMAGES

- 11 The Crisis in Culture as Reflected in Southern Literature 179
Cleanth Brooks
- 12 Mark Twain's South: Tom and Huck 199
Louis D. Rubin, Jr.
- 13 Tobacco Road: Low Life and the Comic Tradition 215
Robert D. Jacobs
- 14 William Faulkner of Yoknapatawpha 237
Lewis P. Simpson
- 15 The Fading Memory of the Civil War 257
Walter Sullivan
- 16 The Southern Provincial in Metropolis 267
C. Hugh Holman
- 17 The Pain and the Beauty: The South, the Black Writer, and Conventions of the Picaresque 279
J. Lee Greene
- 18 The Dominion of the Fugitives and Agrarians 305
George Core
- 19 The South: Distance and Change—A Conversation 321
Robert Penn Warren
William Styron, and
Louis D. Rubin, Jr.

- 20 The South—Stage Center: Hellman and Williams 345
Nancy M. Tischler
- 21 Southern Poetry in the Last Quarter of the 20th Century 357
William Harmon
- 22 The Boll Weevil, the Iron Horse, and the End of the Line: Thoughts on Time and Change in Southern Literature and Life 371
Louis D. Rubin, Jr.