

Contents

Preface to the English Edition /14

PROLOGUE: THE LUXEMBURGS AND FRANCE 1322–1377 /17

The Childhood Years of the Two Charleses /19

A Bleak Childhood ▪ 'Monseigneur Charles de Bohême' ▪ France on the Eve of the Hundred Years' War ▪ The Heroic Death of King John ▪ The Childhood Years of the First Dauphin Charles of Valois

Metz 1356: The First Meeting of the Two Charleses /62

The Holy Roman Empire at the Beginning of Charles IV's Reign ▪ Charles' Court and Offices ▪ The First Years of the Reign of King of the Romans Charles IV ▪ Finally Emperor ▪ Charles' Policy Concerning France ▪ The Emperor's Christmas Reading in Metz ▪ The First Imperial Banquet Following the Golden Bull

Dauphin Charles 1357–1364: Basking in Glory and Eclipsed /83

Caught in the Tide of the Urban Revolt ▪ Peasant Uprising – The Jacquerie ▪ The Peace Treaty of Brétigny ▪ In the Shadow of His Father's Policies

France during the Reign of Charles V the Wise /101

The First Steps of the New King ▪ In the Grip of Brigand Troops and Small Warfare ▪ The Renewal of State Administration ▪ The Reconquest of Lost Lands ▪ The Intellectual Environment of the Court ▪ Paris and Its Environs at the End of the Reign of Charles V

European Dimensions of Charles IV's Reign /131

Prague, Head of the Lands of the Bohemian Crown ▪ Clerics and Scholars on Journeys: Prague – Paris – Avignon ▪ Courtiers, Diplomats and Men in the Background ▪ In the Public Eye: Court and Other Festivities, Rituals and Ceremonies ▪ The Great Summits of Emperor Charles IV ▪ An Unexpected Decision to Visit Paris ▪ Late Arrival in France

An Introductory Word to the Readers /185

THE ACCOUNT OF THE GREAT CHRONICLES OF FRANCE
ON THE JOURNEY OF HOLY ROMAN EMPEROR CHARLES IV
TO FRANCE /187

EPILOGUE: REPERCUSSIONS AND IMPLICATIONS
OF THE PARISIAN SUMMIT /237

The Last Years of the Reign of Charles V • The Beginning of the Ecclesiastical Schism in the Head and in the Limbs • The Repercussions of the Schism in Prague and the Emperor's Death • Bohemia and France at the Beginning of the Reign of Wenceslas IV

EXCURSUSES AND INVESTIGATIONS /265

Looking Back at the Existing Literature /268

- I. The Account of the Great Chronicles of France and Associated Written Sources /272
- II. Pictorial Series and Illustrations /277
- III. King of France – Emperor in His Own Kingdom /283
- IV. The Beautiful Orchestration – Belle Ordonnance /295
- V. Welcoming Processions and Ceremonial Entries /309
- VI. Nothing but Horses: Their Numbers, Types and Colours /321
- VII. Clothes, Fabrics and Colours /329
- VIII. Where the Emperor Stayed in Paris /337
- IX. Ceremonial Banquets in the Palace de la Cité /356
- X. Tableware /368
- XI. The Menus of the Parisian Feasts /378
- XII. Dramatic and Musical Productions during the Intermissions (Entremets) /383
- XIII. The Gifts for the Emperor and His Retinue /390
- XIV. Book Gifts, Relics and the Small Mysteries around Them /398
- XV. The Final Account of the Expenditures of the King's Treasury /408

Appendix /416

List of Abbreviations /418

Family Tree of the Valois Dynasty /419

Luxemburg Dynasty /420

Bibliography of sources and secondary literature /423

List of figures /448

List of miniatures /457

Index /459