

CONTENTS

Preface	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
1 CHRONICLES: A TRANSLATION	1
INTRODUCTION
I. Titles	47
II. The Relevance of Textual Criticism	52
A. The Impact of the Dead Sea Scrolls	52
B. The Various Witnesses to the Text of Chronicles	55
III. The Chronicler's Use of Earlier Biblical Books	66
A. Shared Source(s) or Reused Texts?	66
B. Quotation, Reinterpretation, and the Chronicler's Method	69
C. The Nature of the Biblical Texts Used by the Chronicler	69
IV. The State of the Field: Recent Studies on Chronicles	72
A. The Unity and Extent of the Chronicler's Work	73
1. Style and Characteristic Language	74
2. The Doublet in 2 Chr 36:22-23 and Ezra 1:1-3a	75
3. Ideology	80
4. Compositional Technique	87
5. Summation	88
V. Theories of Multiple Editions	90
A. Editions within 1 and 2 Chronicles?	90
B. Editions within Chronicles-Ezra-Nehemiah?	93
C. Separate Authorship and the Connections between Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah	96
VI. The Debate over Authorship and Date	101
A. The Many Problems in Dating Chronicles	101
B. The Weight of Relative Considerations: How Late a Date?	105
1. Biblical and Apocryphal (or Deuterocanonical) Works	106
2. Pseudepigraphic Works	108
3. The Dead Sea Scrolls	109
C. The Weight of Relative Considerations: How Early a Date?	111
D. Summary	116

VII. The Issue of Extrabiblical Sources	118
A. What Sorts of Noncanonical Sources?	120
B. "As It Is Written": The Chronicler's Source Citations	123
C. Rethinking the Link between Source Criticism and Historical Reconstruction	126
VIII. Chronicles: A Rewritten Bible?	129
IX. Chronicles and Canon	135
 BIBLIOGRAPHY	 139
 TRANSLATION, NOTES, AND COMMENTS
I: The Genealogical Introduction to the People of Israel	245
Excursus: The Genealogies	245
I. From Adam to Esau and Israel: A Genealogy of Nations (1:1-2:2)	265
Textual Notes	267
Notes	272
Sources, Selection, and Genre	285
Composition	287
Structure	290
Comment	291
II. The Genealogy of Judah, Part I (2:3-55)	295
Textual Notes	297
Notes	302
Sources and Composition	317
III. The Davidic Genealogy (3:1-24)	317
Textual Notes	318
Notes	324
Sources and Composition	331
Comment	332
IV. The Genealogy of Judah, Part II (4:1-23)	336
Textual Notes	337
Notes	343
Composition and Structure	352
Comment	356
V. The Descendants of Simeon (4:24-43)	359
Textual Notes	360
Notes	364
Sources and Composition	371
Comment	372
VI. The Transjordanian Tribes (5:1-26)	375
Textual Notes	376
Notes	382
Sources and Composition	392
Form and Structure	394
Comment	395

VII. From Levi to Jehozadaq: A Priestly Heritage (5:27-41)	400
Textual Notes	400
Notes	402
Sources and Composition	407
Structure	410
Comment	412
VIII. The Levitical Genealogies (6:1-38)	415
Textual Notes	416
Notes	419
Sources, Composition, and Structure	426
Comment	428
IX. The Levitical Settlements (6:39-66)	430
Textual Notes	431
Notes	437
Sources, Composition, and Structure	442
Comment	448
X. Issachar, Benjamin, Dan, Naphtali, Manasseh, Ephraim, and Asher (7:1-40)	450
Textual Notes	452
Notes	458
Sources and Composition	468
Comment	470
XI. Last but Not Least: Benjamin (8:1-9:1)	474
Textual Notes	475
Notes	480
Sources and Composition	487
Comment	488
XII. The Genesis and Contours of the Return (9:2-34)	492
Textual Notes	493
Notes	500
Sources and Composition	509
Comment	511
Maps	515