

Content

Introduction.....	9
Chapter One: Rabbinical Literature in Moravia before the Fifteenth Century.....	19
The Earliest Rabbis in Bohemia and Moravia.....	19
A Critique of the Notion of “The Prague School”.....	23
A Responsum by Meir of Rothenburg.....	24
The Rabbinical Network at the End of the Thirteenth Century.....	29
A Debate about Houses: Rabbi Jacob of Triusht (Trosht) and his Court of Justice in Znojmo .....	39
Life Without Rabbis .....	41
Excursus: Shuttafut, Exemption from Taxes, and the Autonomy of the Jewish Community of Jihlava .....	46
Chapter Two: Hebrew Manuscripts from Medieval Moravia.....	49
Manuscripts, Virtual Codices and Fragments.....	53
Liturgical Fragments .....	55
Biblical Fragments .....	61
Halakhic Fragments.....	63
Conclusion.....	64
Chapter Three: A Jewish Divorce Document from Brno, 1452.....	66
Chapter Four: From the Responsa of Yisrael Bruna, I: The Shifra-Affair, Brno, 1452 ...	74
Halakha and Microhistory .....	74
A Rabbinical Correspondence .....	77
Dating the Documents .....	80
What Happened? .....	83
Shifra’s Friends and Enemies .....	86
Rabbis in Action .....	90
Chapter Five: Responsa of Yisrael Bruna, II: Host Libel, Expulsion and the Emergence of Regional Authority .....	95
Bruna’s Epistle to the Community of Prague.....	95
Persecution in Silesia and the Date of Bruna’s Epistle .....	96
How to Avert a Host Libel? A Controversy in Bohemia .....	97
Inventing Regional Authority: Halakhic Dilemmas.....	98
The Expulsion from the Moravian Cities in 1454: A New Perspective .....	104
Conclusion .....	106
Appendix: Hebrew Fragments from Moravia.....	110
Bibliography .....	124