

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	iii
Foreword	v
Introduction	1
Section 1. Practical guide	2
Section 2. Planning and preparation	4
2.1 General	4
2.2 Outbreak control team	4
2.3 Record keeping	6
2.4 Communication	6
Section 3. Surveillance to detect foodborne disease outbreaks	9
3.1 Introduction	9
3.2 Definitions	9
3.3 Data sources	9
3.4 Interpreting data sources	12
Section 4. Investigation of foodborne disease outbreaks	14
4.1 General	14
4.2 Epidemiological investigations	14
4.3 Environmental and food investigations	36
4.4 Laboratory investigations	43
Section 5. Control measures	47
5.1 General	47
5.2 Control of source	47
5.3 Control of transmission	50
5.4 End of outbreak	52
Section 6. Features of important foodborne diseases	54
6.1 Foodborne pathogens, toxins and chemicals of public health importance	54
6.2 Major foodborne pathogens: predominant clinical features	56
6.3 Major foodborne diseases: epidemiology and methods of control and prevention	61
References	94
Further reading	96
Annexes
1. Glossary	98
2. Outbreak control meeting: draft agenda	103
3. Examples of outbreak investigation forms	104
4. Questionnaire design	107
5. Sample questionnaires	109
6. Investigation report forms	114
7. Statistics	127
8. Situations likely to contribute to foodborne disease outbreaks	132
9. Procedures and equipment for specimen collection	139
10. The WHO Five Keys to Safer Food	146