

Content

|                                                                             |    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Olomouc - The University City .....                                         | 9  |
| Palacký University in Olomouc .....                                         | 10 |
| Department of Geoinformatics .....                                          | 11 |
| Department of Mathematical Analysisand Applications of Mathematics..... | 12 |
| StatGIS Team Project .....                                                  | 13 |

Abstracts

Andreas Alfons, Christophe Croux, Sarah Gelper

|                                                                                            |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| A robust extension of least angle regression for groupwise variable selection ..... | 15 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

Flavio Bazzana

|                                                         |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Portfolio Optimization Models with MATLAB® ..... | 16 |
|---------------------------------------------------------|----|

Silvie Bělašková, Eva Fišerová

|                                                                                                                                 |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Accuracy of the <math>p</math>-values of omnibus tests for the proportional hazards modelwith delayed entries ..... | 17 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

Slavka Bodjanova

|                                                                                       |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Fuzzy <math>c</math>-partitions: approximation and partial defuzzication ..... | 18 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

Paula Brito

|                                                                                   |    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Galois connections and conceptual clustering for distributional data ..... | 19 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

Paula A. Amaral, Immanuel Bomze

|                                                                                                 |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Ternary and other hard decision problems: how copositiveoptimization can help ..... | 20 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

|                                                                                                                               |           |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Katarína Burclová, Andrej Pázman                                                                                       |           |
| Simultaneous optimal design via linear programming .....                                                               | 21 |
| Martina Chvosteková                                                                                                    |           |
| Multiple use of the calibration curve .....                                                                            | 23 |
| Sandra Donevska, Eva Fišerová                                                                                          |           |
| Fitting conics via linear models with constraints .....                                                                | 24 |
| Kamila Fačevicová                                                                                                      |           |
| General approach to compositional tables analysis .....                                                                | 26 |
| Peter Filzmoser, Karel Hron, Patrice de Caritat, Alžběta Gardlo                                                        |           |
| Constructing weighted balances for compositional data .....                                                            | 28 |
| Alžběta Gardlo, Karel Hron                                                                                             |           |
| PARAFAC for compositional data with application to metabolomics .....                                                  | 29 |
| Marian Grendár, Vladimír Špitalský                                                                                     |           |
| Contingency tables and the PP algorithm .....                                                                          | 31 |
| Gertraud Malsiner-Walli, Sylvia Frühwirth-Schnatter, Bettina Grün                                                      |           |
| Identifying mixtures of mixtures using bayesian estimation .....                                                       | 33 |
| Pavel Holeček, Jana Talašová                                                                                           |           |
| Methods of linguistically oriented fuzzy modeling in the multiple-criteriadecision-making (FuzzME software) ..... | 35 |
| Hana Horáková, Daniela Jarušková                                                                                       |           |
| Detection of multiple changes in normal distribution parameters .....                                                  | 36 |
| Karel Hron, Petra Kynčlová, Peter Filzmoser                                                                            |           |
| Logratio approach to correlation between parts of compositional data .....                                             | 37 |
| Klára Hrůzová, Karel Hron, Miroslav Rypka                                                                              |           |
| Compositional analysis of trade flows structure .....                                                                  | 38 |
| Věra Jandová, Jana Talašová                                                                                            |           |
| The partial goals method based on the measure of fulfilment of the goals .....                                         | 39 |

|                                                                                                                         |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Martin Kalina                                                                                                    |    |
| On a construction method for associative monotone operations.....                                                | 41 |
| Lubomír Košťál                                                                                                   |    |
| Threshold effect in neuronal coding .....                                                                        | 42 |
| Michaela Koščová, Ján Mačutek                                                                                    |    |
| Indices of qualitative variation used for graphical representationof categorical data .....                 | 43 |
| Jana Krejčí                                                                                                      |    |
| Obtaining multiplicative fuzzy priorities from additively reciprocal fuzzypairwise comparison matrices..... | 45 |
| Zuzana Krivá, Juraj Papčo                                                                                        |    |
| Quadtree based finite volume method for diffusion equations with applicationo SAR imaged filtering .....    | 47 |
| Petra Kynčlová, Peter Filzmoser, Karel Hron                                                                      |    |
| Plotting compositional and non-compositional variables in a biplot.....                                          | 50 |
| Petr Lachout                                                                                                     |    |
| A discussion on families of uniformly monotone functions .....                                                   | 51 |
| Marie Leváková                                                                                                   |    |
| Inhibitory response latency and its estimation .....                                                             | 52 |
| Pasi Luukka, Jyrki Savolainen, Mikael Collan                                                                     |    |
| Combining system dynamic modeling and the Datar-Mathews – methodfor analyzing metal mine investments.....   | 54 |
| Miriam Malíčková, Gejza Wimmer                                                                                   |    |
| Testing Flatness .....                                                                                           | 56 |
| Alessandra Menafoglio, Piercesare Secchi, Alberto Guadagnini                                                     |    |
| A geostatistical approach to clustering georeferenced density functionsin Bayes spaces.....                 | 57 |

|                                                                                                                              |    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Radko Mesiar                                                                                                          |    |
| OWA operators and their generalizations .....                                                                         | 58 |
| Francesco Mola, Jaromír Antoch, Luca Frigau, Claudio Conversano                                                       |    |
| Background subtraction in image segmentation.....                                                                     | 60 |
| Gianna Serafina Monti, Gianna Mateu-Figueras, Vera Pawlowsky-Glahn,                                                   |    |
| Juan Jose Egozcue                                                                                                     |    |
| Scaled-Dirichlet regression for compositional data .....                                                              | 61 |
| Pavlo Mozharovskyi                                                                                                    |    |
| Computing Tukey depth based on linear programming .....                                                               | 63 |
| Ondřej Pavlačka                                                                                                       |    |
| On the normalization of fuzzy vectors of weights .....                                                                | 64 |
| Pavel Pavlíček                                                                                                        |    |
| Optical shape measurement and the measurement uncertainty .....                                                       | 66 |
| Lenka Radová                                                                                                          |    |
| Application of stepwise selection procedures for biomarker signature discovery .....                                  | 68 |
| Pavla Rotterová, Ondřej Pavlačka                                                                                      |    |
| Decision matrices with fuzzy events .....                                                                             | 70 |
| Miroslav Rypka                                                                                                        |    |
| New developments in selfsimilarity.....                                                                               | 72 |
| Piercesare Secchi                                                                                                     |    |
| Four case studies in object oriented spatial statistics .....                                                         | 74 |
| Jan Stoklasa, Tomáš Talášek                                                                                           |    |
| Classification performance in diagnostics: reflecting deliberate distortions of data .....                            | 76 |
| Vojtěch Sukač, Jana Talašová                                                                                          |    |
| A linguistic fuzzy approach to the problem of consensus reachingin multiple criteria group decision-making ..... | 78 |

Tereza Šimková

The impact of cross-correlation on the multivariate L-moment homogeneity test ..... 79

Róbert Špir, Karol Mikula

Cell lineage tree reconstruction from time series of 3D images of zebrafish embryogenesis ..... 80

Tomáš Talášek, Jan Stoklasa, Jana Talašová

Linguistic approximation of outputs of mathematical models – less commonly used approaches ..... 82

Matthias Templ

Synthetic data: Modelling and generating complex close-to-reality Data for Public Use ..... 83

Valentin Todorov, Maria Anna Di Palma, Michele Gallo

R software for robust 3-way data analysis ..... 84

Kristýna Vaňkátová, Eva Fišerová

The role of concomitant variables in mixture regression models ..... 85

Ondřej Vencálek

Distributional neighbourhood and k Depth-Nearest neighbour method reborn ..... 87

Rosanna Verde, Antonio Balzanella

A Clustering strategy for multiple data stream based on histogram summarization ..... 88

Viktor Witkovský, Gejza Wimmer

Exact statistical inference by using numerical FFT inversion of the characteristic function ..... 90

Karel Zimmermann

One approach to unsolvable max-separable equation systems ..... 91

Robert Zůvala, Eva Fišerová, Lukáš Marek

Mathematical aspects of the kriging method applied on landslide in Halenkovice ..... 93