

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Editor's Note xi

Tommie Sue Montgomery

Preface xv

Joseph John Jova

Introduction

Mexico and the United States: Positions and Counterpositions 1

Octavio Paz

PART 1 THE PEOPLE AND CULTURE OF MEXICO

Essay 1 The Roots of Mexican Culture 25

Ignacio Bernal

Essay 2 The Beginning of a Nation: The Nineteenth Century 35

Josefina Vásquez

Essay 3 Nation-Building in the Twentieth Century 39

Rodolfo Stavenhagen

PART 2 THE MEXICAN STATE

Essay 4 The Revolution, the Constitution, and the Progress of the Mexican State 47

Porfirio Muñoz Ledo

- Essay 5 Contradictions and Continuities in Mexican Constitutionalism 57

Fernando Pérez Correa

- Essay 6 Elites, Masses, and Parties 65

Rafael Segovia

- Essay 7 Urban Development in Mexico 71

Luis Unikel

- Essay 8 Economic and Social Development in Mexico 77

Victor L. Urquidi

PART 3 MEXICO AND THE WORLD

- Essay 9 Mexico: Viewpoints of a Country of Intermediate Development on the World Economy 91

Bernardo Sepúlveda Amor

- Essay 10 Mexico's Relations with the Third World:
Experiences and Perspectives 103

Olga Pellicer de Brody

- Essay 11 The Structural Context of U.S.-Mexican Relations 109

Mario Ojeda Gómez

- Essay 12 Facts, Perceptions, and the Issue of Undocumented Immigration 115

Jorge Bustamante

- Essay 13 A Mexican-U.S. Energy Market: The Conflict of Interest 121

Samuel I. del Villar

- Essay 14 Special Problems and a Not-So-Special Relationship: Mexican Foreign Policy and the United States 127

Jorge Castañeda

- Notes on Contributors 139