

Table of contents:

Differential psychology in cartographic researches: How important are interindividual and intraindividual differences?
Josef Švancara	7
HandSpy A New Tool to Study Handwriting
Rui A. Alves	9
Interactive User Studies with Multi-Dimensional Data Logging
Ralf Bierig	17
Detection of malingering in forensic settings Applying Principles of Cognitive Psychology in Practice
Fernando Barbosa	31
Affective word processing the unique contributions of discrete emotions versus affective dimensions
Benny B. Briesemeister	40
How colours can influence readability of maps and what eye-tracking can tell us about...
Alžběta Brychtová	49
Visual Programming and Eye-tracking Ing.
Zdena Dobešová	59
Brain-computer interfacing based on motor imagery
Igor Farkaš	78
The art and pitfalls of simultaneously measured fMRI and EEG data
Martin Lamoš	88

Robots and the Cloud

Daniel Lorenčik & Romana Žihlaviníková.....105

Cultural capital, executive functioning and pre-literacy achievement

Andrej Mentel & Viera Štefinová.....111

Hypothesis: Online software platform for objective experimental testing

Kamil Morong, Čeněk Šašinka.....116

Eye-tracking and cartography „How we are analyzing the data“

Stanislav Popelka120

The effects of alcohol on memory and suggestibility

Anett Tamm, Renate Volbert, Steffen Lau.....129

EG in applied contexts: Benefits and problems

Sascha Tamm.....134

Machines with Empathy

Maria Virčíkova & Martina Tarhanicová.....146