Table of Contents

Katrien Lichtert, Jan Dumolyn & Maximiliaan P. J. Martens

Images, Maps, Texts.
Reading the Meanings of the Later Medieval and Early Modern City 1

Bram Vannieuwenhuyze & Elien Vernackt

The Digital Thematic Deconstruction of Historic Town Views and Maps 9

Petra Maclot

A Portrait Unmasked: The Iconology of the Birds'-Eye View of Antwerp by Virgilius Bononiensis (1565) as a Source for Typological Research of Private Buildings in Fifteenth- and Sixteenth-Century Antwerp 33

Eva Chodějovská & Jiří Krejčí

Eighteenth-Century Prague.
Joseph Daniel Huber's 'images' of the Capital City of Bohemia 49

Jelle De Rock

The Image of the City Quantified: The Serial Analysis of Pictorial Representations of Urbanity in Early Netherlandish Art (1420-1520) 67

Katrien Lichtert

The Artist, the City and the Urban Theatre:
Pieter Bruegel's 'Battle between Shrovetide and Lent' (1559) Reconsidered 83

Oliver G. Kik

Bramante in the North:
Imag(in)ing Antiquity in the Low Countries (1500-1539) 97

Cecilia Paredes

Pavie, Bruxelles, Barcelone et Tunis.
Quelques portraits de villes dans les tapisseries de Charles Quint 113

Maria Clelia Galassi

Topography and Mythological Transfiguration in Two Sixteenth-Century Flemish Cityscapes of Genoa: a Painting by Jan Massys and an Etching by Anton van den Wyngaerde 131

Silvia Beltramo

Describing and 'Mapping the Town' Using Iconographic and Literary Sources. Cities in the Late Middle Ages in Italy 143

Nirit Ben-Aryeh Debby

A Venetian City View of Constantinople: Mapping the City 159

Sarah Van Ooteghem

'There we will see many views that will inspire us to create landscapes'. The Use of Sixteenth-Century Netherlandish Artists' Roman Vedute as Historical Sources 173

Megan K. Williams

Lux Patentissima and World Piazza: Early Modern Diplomatic Portraits of Rome 187

Colour Plates 201