

EDITORIAL

Nuclear impressionism: how the active genome creates the very canvas on which gene expression is painted

T. Pederson 113–116

REVIEW ARTICLES

The cultured primary hepatocyte and its application in toxicology

P.M. Eckl and N. Bresgen 117–126

Amiodarone – excellent antiarrhythmic drug? (Happy end after 40 years of problems)

P. Petr, M. Verner, C. J. Van Wyk, H.A. Koeleman, P. Svítíl, H. Kalová 127–139

Plant toxic proteins and their current significance for warfare and medicine

J. Patočka and L. Středá 141–148

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

Microscopic image analysis of elastin network in samples of normal, atherosclerotic and aneurysmatic abdominal aorta and its biomechanical implications

Z. Tonar, S. Němeček, R. Holota, J. Kočová, V. Třeška, J. Moláček, T. Kohoutek, S. Hadravská 149–160

Effects of genistein on insect haemocytes

J. Berger, S. Walczysko, J. Pávková, H.O. Gutzeit 161–168

Biological activity of binary mixtures of 2,4-D with some aminophosphonates

J. Sarapuk, D. Bonarska, H. Kleszczynska 169–173

Assessment of the effect of non invasive laser on the process of healing of an extraction wound by infrared thermography: preliminary study

H. Fikáčková, B. Navrátilová, I. Dylevský, L. Navrátil, R. Jirman 175–180