
Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	xiii

PART I

Global perspective, New Age and society's response 1

- | | | |
|---|---|----|
| 1 | New Religious Movements (NRMs): a global perspective | 3 |
| | Globalization as a new form of religion and/or spirituality | 6 |
| | The growing demand for spirituality | 7 |
| | Identifying 'new' religion globally | 9 |
| | Accounting for NRMs: rapid change or stagnation? | 16 |
| | Conclusion | 20 |
| | References and select bibliography | 21 |
| 2 | The New Age Movement (NAM): alternative or mainstream? | 25 |
| | Historical overview | 27 |
| | NAM, the Holistic Health Movement and the Human Potential Movement | 31 |
| | Questioning the personal and social role of the NAM | 34 |
| | Some Buddhist and Christian responses to the NAM | 35 |
| | The NAM and traditional and/or indigenous religions: the Australian case | 38 |
| | Conclusions: the future of the New Age | 39 |
| | References and select bibliography | 40 |
| 3 | Accounting for hostility to NRMs | 43 |
| | The history of the ACM | 45 |

NRMs and violence	55
The brainwashing hypothesis and child abuse allegations	57
Conclusions	67
References and select bibliography	67

PART IINew religions in the West 71

4 Europe 73

Religious change in modern Europe: some general comments	74
À la carte Christianity and the growth of the unchurched but spiritual	76
Toward a European Islam	79
Islam: new developments and movements	82
Buddhism and Europeanization	87
New Buddhist communities and movements	90
New Hindu and Sikh movements	92
Modern 'secular' Yoga	94
Neo-Paganism	95
Influential thinkers and the new spiritualities: the case of Gurdjieff	97
Conclusions: a changing paradigm	102
References and select bibliography	103

5 North America 108

NRMs (c.1820–c.1950)	111
Native American New Religions	115
NRMs c.1950 to the present: anxiety in the midst of prosperity	116
Ufology and Occultism	119
Reclaiming as politically engaged Wicca/Witchcraft	122
NRMs and September 11th 2001	123
New Christian and Christian-related movements and the expansion of Western interests	124
'Americanized' and other 'new' forms of Buddhism	126
Islam and new Islam-derived movements	129
Judaism and new movements derived from Judaism	133
Conclusions	136
References and select bibliography	137

6	Australia, New Zealand and Melanesia (New Guinea)	141
	Australia: the ending of the 'white only policy' and a new kind of religious diversity
	142
	New Religions from East and South Asia	145
	Commodification	148
	New Zealand	150
	Maori new religions	154
	Melanesia and commodity millenarianism	155
	Conclusions	159
	References and select bibliography	160
PART III
	New religions: North Africa and the Middle East, and Africa, south of the Sahara	163
7	North Africa and the Middle East	165
	Modernization and Islamic exceptionalism	167
	Islamism, the Muslim Brotherhood and the creation of an Islamic state	169
	The influence of Sayyid Qutb (1906–66)	174
	The Brotherhood's idea of an Islamic state	176
	Hizb ut Tahir	179
	Al-Qaeda	180
	Gush Emunim (Block of the Faithful)	183
	Conclusions	184
	References and select bibliography	184
8	Africa, south of the Sahara	186
	Colonialism and religious innovation	186
	AICs in West Africa (c.1890 to the present)	188
	AICs of South, Central and East Africa (from c.1890)	195
	Africa's new Charismatic and Evangelical movements	199
	Neo-traditional religions	200
	New Islam-related movements	201
	NRMs of Asian origin	205
	Conclusions	206
	References and select bibliography	207

PART IV
NRMs in South and Central America and the Caribbean	209
9 South and Central America and the Caribbean	211
Neo-Pentecostal churches	213
Spiritist and esoteric NRMs in Brazil and Argentina	215
Amerindian-Catholic spirituality and New Religions	218
African-derived religions: Brazil	220
African-derived religions: the Caribbean	224
Japanese NRMs as the route to African roots	230
Other Asian NRMs	232
Conclusions	233
References and select bibliography	233
PART V
New religions of South, Southeast and East Asia	237
10 South Asia (India, Pakistan and Sri Lanka)	239
Neo-Hindu movements	241
Islamic new movements in India and Pakistan	256
New Sikh-related movements	263
New Buddhist movements	264
Sri Lanka's 'Protestant Buddhism'	266
Conclusions	268
References and select bibliography	269
11 Southeast Asia (Thailand, Vietnam and Indonesia)	271
Thailand's reformed Buddhism	272
Vietnam: Engaged Buddhism	278
The American/Vietnam War and Engaged Buddhism	280
The Cao Dai and Hoa Hao movements	281
Indonesia	285
The construction of 'theistic' Buddhism, Confucianism and Hinduism	286
Varieties of Islam	288
Resurgent Sufism and modernist and neo-modernist Islam	290

	SUBUD 291
	Conclusions 293
	References and select bibliography 294
12	East Asia (1): Japanese NRMs	296
	New religion 297
	Japanese NRMs and the religious past 298
	Goals of the New Religions 301
	Accounting for the rise and decline of Japanese NRMs 304
	Engaged spirituality 306
	Japan's Christian NRMs 307
	Japanese NRMs abroad 309
	Aum Shinrikyo: the path to violence 310
	Conclusions 316
	References and select bibliography 316
13	East Asia (2): NRMs in China, Taiwan and Korea	319
	Governments and religion in China 320
	The religious landscape of China and Taiwan 321
	New Religions in China and Taiwan: world transformation as self-transformation 326
	From Yiguandao (Way of Pervading Unity) to Tian Dao (The Way) 327
	Foguangshan 329
	Buddhist Compassion Relief (Tzu Chi) 331
	Falun Gong 332
	Qigong and Chinese martial arts outside China 336
	Chinese Christian NRMs 337
	Korea 337
	Korea's NRMs 339
	Tonghak/Ch'ondogyo 339
	Unification Church (UC) (T'ongil-gyo) 342
	Won Buddhism 346
	Conclusions 348
	References and select bibliography 349

PART VI
Conclusion	351
14 Future trends	353
The distinguishing features of NRMs and of new forms of spirituality	353
The future of NRMs, the new spirituality and/or congregational religion	357
References and select bibliography	359
General bibliography	361
Index	365