

1 It's a Map 3

What exactly is a map, and why are maps and map making so powerful?

2 Why Are You Making Your Map? 25

What are you trying to do with your map? Your intentions for your map shape the way you make it.

3 Mappable Data 51

Making maps requires data. Locating and processing data is a vital step in the map-making process.

4 Map-Making Tools 73

A diversity of map-making tools enables you to make a diversity of maps.

5 Geographic Framework 91

Key concepts that shape the geographic framework upon which your map will be constructed.

6 Map Layout 125

Arranging your map, its title, and other components.

| | | |
|-----------|---|------------|
| 7 | Intellectual and Visual Hierarchies | 145 |
| | Adding depth and order to your map by manipulating its visual elements. | |
| 8 | Map Generalization and Classification | 161 |
| | Simplifying point, line, and area data for a more effective map. | |
| 9 | Map Symbolization | 195 |
| | Matching visual marks to your data. | |
| 10 | Type on Maps | 233 |
| | The effective use of type on maps. | |
| 11 | Color on Maps | 255 |
| | The effective use of color on maps. | |
| 12 | Finishing Your Map | 277 |
| | Evaluating your map to make it perfect. | |
| | Index | 292 |