
CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	v
1. Bodily Autonomy	1
I. Introduction: Why the Body Matters	1
II. Autonomy: Rights and Relations	2
A. Autonomy and the Law	4
B. A Right to Autonomy?	6
C. Relational Autonomy	7
III. The Body	9
A. Dividing the Mind and the Body	9
B. Problems of Personhood Theory	11
C. Embodied Self	13
IV. Conclusion	16
2. The Public-Private Distinction	17
I. Introduction	17
II. Different Meanings of Public and Private: Contexts, History and Rights	18
III. Feminist Critique of the Public-Private Distinction	21
IV. A Descriptive/Normative Spectrum	24
V. Defining the 'Private'	25
A. Private Spaces	26
B. Private Actions	27
C. Private Choices	29
D. Private Consequences	30
VI. Defining the 'Public'	32
VII. Conclusion	33
3. Reproductive Choices	35
I. Introduction	35
II. Reproduction, the Public-Private Distinction and the Right to Respect for Private Life	35

III.	State Regulation of Reproduction in England and Wales.....	39
A.	Regulation of Abortion	39
B.	Regulation of Pregnancy	41
C.	Regulation of Assisted Reproduction	43
IV.	Justification for State Regulation of Reproduction.....	45
A.	Harm Principle	46
(i)	Harm to Other Parties in the Reproductive Process	48
(ii)	Harm to the Unborn Child.....	51
(iii)	Conclusion on the Harm Principle in the Reproductive Process	54
B.	Human Dignity.....	54
(i)	Human Dignity in the Reproductive Process	57
(ii)	Human Dignity and the Unborn Child	58
V.	Conclusion	60
4.	Choices about Dying.....	62
I.	Introduction.....	62
II.	State Regulation of Dying in England and Wales.....	63
A.	Suicide: The Freedom to Choose Death.....	63
B.	Life-Sustaining Treatment and its Withdrawal	67
C.	Criminal Prohibition of Assisted Dying.....	71
III.	Justifications for the Regulation of Dying.....	73
A.	Public Interest in the Value of Human Life	74
B.	Prevention of Harm.....	79
(i)	Protecting the Dying	79
(ii)	Preventing Harm to Others in Society	81
IV.	Conclusion	84
5.	Sexual Autonomy	86
I.	Introduction.....	86
II.	Regulation of Sexual Autonomy	87
A.	Sexuality and Equality.....	87
B.	Sexual Offences and the Criminalisation of Consensual Sexual Activity.....	90
C.	Age of Consent.....	97
D.	Conclusion on Current Regulation of Sexual Autonomy.....	100
III.	Public Morality and (Private) Sexual Autonomy.....	101
IV.	Conclusion	107
6.	Bodily Modification	109
I.	Introduction.....	109
II.	Cosmetic Surgery.....	110
III.	Female Genital Mutilation	113
IV.	Body Integrity Identity Disorder and the Amputation of Healthy Limbs	119

V. Gender Reassignment Surgery	122
VI. Paternalistic Restrictions on Body Modification	126
VII. Conclusion	130
7. Selling the Body	131
I. Introduction.....	131
II. Prostitution	132
A. Problematic Choice	132
B. Regulation of Prostitution.....	134
C. Options for Reform	137
III. Surrogacy.....	140
IV. Sale of Eggs or Organs.....	144
A. Egg Sale.....	144
B. Organ Sales	147
V. Preserving the Choice Paradigm.....	150
VI. Conclusion	152
8. Conclusion: Legitimate Justifications for Legal Regulation of Bodily Autonomy.....	154
I. Defining Bodily Autonomy	154
II. Embracing the Harm Principle.....	155
III. Rejecting Paternalism and Moralism.....	158
IV. Preserving the Dignity of the Human Species	160
V. Defending the Choice Paradigm	162
VI. Practical Recommendations to Enhance and Support Bodily Autonomy	163
Bibliography	165
Index	173