

Bloomberg Businessweek

December 19 – December 25, 2016

How the cover gets made

Opening Remarks Using Obama's tools for creating climate rules, Trump could undo them	6
Bloomberg View The powerful levers in the Iran deal • How to boost U.S. life expectancy	8
Movers ▲ A first for U.S. offshore wind farms ▼ More change at Chipotle	11
Global Economics
The other U.S. deficits: Skilled workers and machines for them to use	13
Koreans are ready to rumble with the chaebol	15
Across Germany, the welcome cry of newborns	16
The tide of overseas investments by Chinese companies may ebb	17
Companies/Industries
Bringing in an outsider to rescue big, bloated VW	19
More boomers choose the long goodbye	20
The art of selling edible body paints online in India	21
At these prices, what's a long layover in China's interior?	22
Politics/Policy
The "disability belts" of rural America expand where jobs disappear	24
Trump's State Department choice has his own baggage with Beijing	26
Palm Beach, home to Trump's Mar-a-Lago, isn't waiting to confront the rising sea	26
Technology
Boot camps for coding that skip the basic training	29
What do Exxon, the Clinton initiative, megachurches, and bull riders have in common? Their live-stream provider	30
Charlie Rose talks to cybersecurity commission leaders Tom Donilon and Sam Palmisano	31
Using blockchain to create digital security for the cloud	32
Innovation: This 2-foot-tall, 200-pound lawn-care robot clears snow, too	33
Markets/Finance
A closer look at the bank that Treasury pick Steve Mnuchin helped turn around	34
JPMorgan traders make loans bankers may fear	35
Bonds are sinking, rates are rising—is the new normal now old hat?	36
As Vancouver cools its real estate market, Seattle's and Toronto's get hotter	37
Features
Shrimp Scampicillin Why your seafood platter may be full of antibiotics	38
Runaway American Dream New Jersey's never-ending megamall project	44
Rembrandt Goes Cruising Park West Gallery is far from a conventional auctioneer	50
Etc.
Soundkick and other startups are trying to make the live-music experience rock	57
The Critic: You'll be more productive if you take tiny doses of LSD, according to a memoir	60
Travel: Sleep masks, cocktail kits, and other ideas for making flying more civilized	62
Fashion: This winter, you can never wear too much plaid	64
Marketing: Skip the beauty counter and order your fragrances online	66
What I Wear to Work: The CEO of Barry's Bootcamp is not one for a subtle puffer	67
How Did I Get Here? Nancy Kanter, general manager of Disney Junior, made her debut in a Johnson floor wax ad	68

1 "The story is about shrimp, they're—"

"YUM!"

"They're being grown in—"

"God, I love shrimp. Absolutely love those delicious little critters."

"They're being grown in farms that—"

"Shrimp cocktail is my favorite. Also love shrimp scampi, peel-and-eat shrimp, garlic shrimp, shrimp po'boys, popcorn shrimp, seafood paella, and pretty much any type of pasta with shrimp. Also, in some restaurants they serve you bloody marys with a little shrimp on top. I don't even like bloody marys, so I order one, eat the shrimp, and then give the rest to a friend."

"I'm going to step away now. Why don't you read the story and we can talk again in a few hours."

"Looking forward to it!"

(Two hours later)

"Oh, God. Why, God, why?"

