

“An important introduction to the debates about the geography of globalization. Critical but never shrill, the book works unerringly to expose and render intelligible the intellectual and practical pressure points that are the result of the multiple processes of globalization. As good a starting point as any you’ll find.”

Nigel Thrift, University of Warwick

“Writing for an upper level undergraduate readership, Andrew Herod has produced a challenging critical interpretation of geographies of globalization that is both historically informed and geographically sensitive.”

Peter Dicken, University of Manchester

Challenging such neoliberal assumptions as the ‘death of distance’ and suggestions that geography no longer matters within a shrinking globe, Geographies of Globalization is a critical introduction to the concepts and realities surrounding what has become the leitmotif of our contemporary world.

The book shows that whatever else they may be, the contemporary processes that are impacting on the world economy and which are variously represented as ‘globalization’ and/or ‘internationalization’ are fundamentally geographical processes, for they are tying the planet together in new and different ways.

Exploring a wide range of issues, from the integration of the world economy to how contemporary processes are shaping and shaped by nation-states and how workers are organizing transnationally in response to ongoing transformations in the planet’s economic geography, Geographies of Globalization illuminates the many, often contradictory, facets of globalization.

Andrew Herod is Professor of Geography, Adjunct Professor of International Affairs, and Adjunct Professor of Anthropology, at the University of Georgia, USA. He has written widely on issues of globalization and labor politics. His books include The Dirty Work of Neoliberalism: Cleaners in the Global Economy (with Luis Aguiar) (2006), Geographies of Power: Placing Scale (with Melissa Wright) (2002), Labor Geographies: Workers and the Landscapes of Capitalism (2001), Organizing the Landscape: Geographical Perspectives on Labor Unionism (1998), and An Unruly World? Globalization, Governance and Geography (with Gearóid Ó Tuathail and Susan Roberts) (1998). He is also an elected official, being a member of the government of Athens-Clarke County, Georgia.

Cover image: ‘Globe made out of woven computer printouts, being read by three people’ Image © Stockbyte/Getty

Cover design by SCW – www.scw.uk.com

 WILEY-BLACKWELL
www.wiley.com/wiley-blackwell

Contents

List of Figures	vi
List of Tables	viii
Preface	ix
A Note on Terminology, Naming, and the Calculation of Historical Monetary Values	xii
List of Abbreviations	xiv
1 Introduction	1
2 Envisioning Global Visions	26
3 Interpreting Globalization	52
4 Talking Globalization	82
5 Globalizing Empires	111
6 Manufacturing Globalization	139
7 Governing Globalization	170
8 Globalizing Labor	198
9 Conclusion	228
References	234
Index	263

