

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Summary	7
1 Public Policy Studies in Europe. Towards a Comparative Framework for Public Policy Studies (the Cases of the USA, France, Germany and the Czech Republic)	13
Abstract	13
1.1 Introduction	14
1.2 Some notes on preliminary assumptions	15
1.3 On the fundamentals of the contemporary approach to public policy studies	16
1.4 An outline of comparative frame for public policy studies	18
1.5 Conclusion	24
References	25
2 The Central Eastern European Countries: What European Social Models and Growth?	27
Abstract	27
2.1 Introduction	28
2.2 A brief history of the European Social (and Economic) Model	28
2.3 Current discussions of the European Social Model	32
2.4 The European Social “(Sub-)Models” and an impact assessment thereof	36
2.5 The European Social “(Sub-)Models” and structural changes	44
2.6 European Social Models and the new EU member states: Each state should learn from the best practices and avoid the worst practices	48
2.7 European Social Models and the new EU member states’ domestic and foreign policies	53
2.8 Conclusion	55
References	57
3 Political Risk of Social Security: Evidence from Reforms in Hungary and the Czech Republic	63
Abstract	63
3.1 Introduction	65
3.2 Description of pension reforms	67
3.3 Methodology and data	73
3.4 Results	77

3.5	Conclusion	85
	References	86
	Appendix	88
4	Labour Migration and Welfare Effects of Free Mobility of Labour in the Common Market	105
	Abstract	105
4.1	Marshallian surplus	106
4.2	Labour mobility between two countries and the indicator of migration cost	107
4.3	Propensity to migrate and the indicator of migration cost	109
4.4	Welfare considerations	111
4.5	Empirical evidence	114
4.6	Conclusion	116
	Acknowledgements	120
	References	120
5	Social Policy and Social Problems in Central and Eastern Europe and the EU. The Case of the Care Sector in Poland	121
	Abstract	121
5.1	Introduction	122
5.2	Trends and developments in long-term care in Poland	123
5.3	Legal regulations and the institutional framework	127
5.4	Strategies to improve quality	129
5.5	Modernisation of the long-term care sector	131
5.6	Accessibility of long-term care services	133
5.7	Conclusion	134
	References	134
6	First Results of a Comparison of Expert Investigations into the Situation of Disabled Persons Conducted in 2000 and 2007	139
	Abstract	139
6.1	Introduction	141
6.2	Objectives	142
6.3	Methodology	142
6.4	Records	144
6.5	Results of the 2000 expert investigation	149
6.6	Comparison of experts' opinions from the two investigations	152
6.7	Conclusion	155
	References	155

7	Problem Drug Use, Marijuana and European Money: How Epidemiology Helped Czech Policy Reformers	157
	Abstract	157
7.1	Introduction	158
7.2	The PDU concept is born within European drug epidemiology	159
7.3	PDU is used in a 1999–2001 Czech drug policy analysis	160
7.4	Arguing the normality of the Czech drug situation	161
7.5	Conclusion	164
	References	165
8	The Corporatisation of Hospitals	169
	Abstract	169
8.1	Introduction	170
8.2	Objectives, questions, method	171
8.3	Analytical framework and its theoretical foundations	172
8.4	Analysis of the development of hospital care organisation in the USA, Europe and the Czech Republic	179
8.5	Corporatisation of hospitals in the Czech Republic	182
8.6	Conclusion	190
	References	191
9	Transformation of the Czech Entrepreneurial Elite and the Conditions for Economic Development	197
	Abstract	197
9.1	Introduction	198
9.2	Entrepreneurs and capital	198
9.3	Entrepreneurship and the end of central planning	201
9.4	The social structure of entrepreneurship before and during communism	204
9.5	The mechanism of communism's demise	207
9.6	Entrepreneurship in the early stages of transition	211
9.7	The changing structure of entrepreneurs in the later stages of transition	214
9.8	Conclusion	219
	References	220
10	Czech Deposit-Guarantee Schemes in Comparison with the EU	225
	Abstract	225
10.1	Introduction	226
10.2	Results of comparison	231

10.3 Conclusion	232
References	232
Index	235