

contents

preface xi

one 1

sense, nonsense, and the senses:
an inquiry into the powers of the human mind

lecture one 3

the antinomy of realism

lecture two 21

the importance of
being austin: the need
for a “second naïveté”

lecture three 43

the face of cognition

two 71

mind and body

lecture one 73

“i thought of
what i called ‘an
automatic sweetheart’”

lecture two 93

are psychological
conditions “internal
states”?

lecture three 109

psychophysical
correlation

three 135

afterwords

first afterword 137

causation and
explanation

second afterword 151

are appearances
“qualia”?

notes 177

index 225