

Detailed Contents

Table of Cases and Decisions	xv
Table of Statutes and other Public Documents	xxiii
A Note on the Cover	xxxiii
Introduction	I
The meaning and importance of constitutional amendments	I
Unconstitutional constitutional amendments	5
Structure	10
PART I: COMPARATIVE CONSTITUTIONAL UNAMENDABILITY
i. Explicit Constitutional Unamendability	15
Unamendable provisions	16
Origins and development	18
Examining unamendable provisions	21
Structure	21
Content	23
Characteristics	26
a) Preservative	26
b) Transformative	28
c) Aspirational	32
d) Conflictual	32
e) Bricolage	35
Conclusion	37
ii. Implicit Constitutional Unamendability	39
The genesis of the theory of implicit unamendability	39
The Indian 'Basic Structure Doctrine'	42
The 'Basic Structure Doctrine': A tour d'horizon	47
Asia	47
a) Bangladesh	47
b) Pakistan	49
c) South Korea, Japan, China, Taiwan, and Thailand	52
d) Sri Lanka, Malaysia, and Singapore	56

Africa	59
a) Kenya	59
b) South Africa	59
c) Tanzania	62
Central and South America	64
a) Argentina, Colombia, and Peru	64
b) Caribbean	68
Conclusion	69
3. Supra-constitutional Unamendability	71
Introduction	71
Natural law	72
General	72
Germany	75
Ireland	77
Evaluation	80
International law	82
General	82
The alleged supremacy of supranational law	86
The problem of external v. internal espace juridique	89
The role of national courts	92
The eventual superiority of domestic constitutional law	94
Conclusion	100
PART II: TOWARDS A THEORY OF CONSTITUTIONAL UNAMENDABILITY
4. The Nature of Constitutional Amendment Powers	105
Constituent power and constituted power	105
The amendment power as sui generis	110
The secondary constituent power	113
The distinction between 'original' and 'derived' constituent powers	113
Integration: A theory of delegation	117
Terminological clarifications	120
a) Primary and secondary constituent powers	120
b) Power and authority	122
Unamendability and primary constituent power	123
A three-track democracy	123
We the 'limited' people?	128
Encouraging a revolution?	129
Conclusion	133
5. The Scope of Constitutional Amendment Powers	135
Explicit unamendability	135
The validity of unamendable provisions	135
An 'unamendable amendment'?	138
Amending 'unamendable' provisions	139

Implicit unamendability	141
Foundational structuralism	141
Hierarchy of constitutional values	144
Constitutional identity	148
The expressio unius est exclusio alterius maxim	150
Textualism	154
Conclusion	156
6. The Spectrum of Constitutional Amendment Powers	158
The binary code of amendment powers	158
The polymorphic nature of amendment powers	161
Popular and governmental amendment powers	162
Constitutional escalator	164
Linking unamendability and amendment procedures	168
Conclusion	174
PART III: ENFORCING CONSTITUTIONAL UNAMENDABILITY
7. Understanding Judicial Review of Constitutional Amendments	179
Rationales behind judicial review of constitutional amendments	180
Separation of powers	180
The essence of the judicial role	181
The rule and supremacy of the constitution	182
Political process failure	183
Responding to the critics	186
The subordination enigma	187
The 'dead hand' of the past	188
Undemocratic	190
Enhancing the judiciary's power	193
Conclusion	196
8. Exercising Judicial Review of Constitutional Amendments	197
Authority to review constitutional amendments	197
Existence or absence of explicit unamendability	203
Different procedures for constitutional amendments	209
Foundational structuralist interpretation	212
Standard of review	218
Conclusion	225
Conclusion	226
Appendix: Explicit Substantive Unamendability in World Constitutions	235
Bibliography	275
Index	317