

Contents

|                                                                                                                                                                                                           |           |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Preface .....                                                                                                                                                                                      | 7  |
| Programme .....                                                                                                                                                                                    | 9  |
| Invited Lectures .....                                                                                                                                                                             | 15 |
| J. MusilRecent progress in hard nanocomposite coatings .....                                                                                                                                          | 17        |
| J. VyskočilApplication of PVD / PACVD coating in automotive industry .....                                                                                                                            | 21        |
| S. Novák, R. Hrach, M. ŠvecComputer characterization of electrical and morphological propertiesof composite films .....                                                                           | 25        |
| J. BenediktDeposition of SiO <sub>2</sub> films by means of atmospheric pressure microplasma jets .....                                                                                               | 29        |
| P. HájkováThin photocatalytic films modified by Ag and Pt nanoparticles .....                                                                                                                         | 33        |
| O. ZindulkaDevelopment of PVD coatings and coating units in industrial scale .....                                                                                                                    | 35        |
| V. OndokIonbond and its PVD and PA-CVD technology: Tribological coatings .....                                                                                                                        | 37        |
| Oral Presentations .....                                                                                                                                                                           | 41 |
| J. Blažek, J. Musil, P. Zeman, R. Čerstvý, Š. Prokšová, M. ŠášekInfluence of annealing time and temperature on thermal stability of magnetronsputtered Al <sub>2</sub> O <sub>3</sub> films ..... | 43        |
| P. Calta, P. Steidl, J. Vlček, P. ZemanHard amorphous Si-B-C-N coatings with high thermal stability and oxidationresistance prepared by pulsed magnetron sputtering .....                         | 45        |
| J. Hnilica, V. KudrleDiagnostics of microwave discharge for surface modification .....                                                                                                                | 47        |

|                                                                                                                                                                    |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| J. Houska, J.E. Klemberg-Sapieha, L. MartinuAtom-by-atom simulations of chemical vapor deposition of nanoporous SiNH .....                                     | 49 |
| V. Jahodová, Z. RožekPossibilities of applications of DLC-coatings .....                                                                                       | 51 |
| P. KejzlarThe effect of Zr addition on the structure of Fe-30Al at. % type alloys .....                                                                        | 53 |
| P. Kloc, D. Trunec, H.-E. WagnerNumeric simulation of atmospheric pressure plasmas in dielectric barrier discharges .....                                      | 55 |
| M. KohoutThin film Li-ion microbattery produced by DC/RF magnetron sputtering .....                                                                            | 57 |
| M. Kormunda, J. Pavlík, P. MalinskýMagnetron deposited iron doped tin oxides: from smooth coatings to nanopillars .....                                        | 59 |
| J. Lazar, J. Rezek, J. VlčekCharacteristics of ion flux in high power impulse magnetron sputtering of zirconium .....                                          | 61 |
| J. Matoušek, J. Pavlík, S. Novák, L. KovačikSn/n-hexane nanocomposites and their electrical properties .....                                                   | 63 |
| M. Meissner, J. Musil, R. CerstvyTwo-functional DC sputtered Cu-containing TiO <sub>2</sub> thin films .....                                                   | 65 |
| P. Novák, J. Musil, Z. SoukupInfluence of mechanical properties on tribological behavior of Mo doped carbon coatings .....                                     | 67 |
| O. Novak, J. Sicha, J. VlcekIon-bombardment characteristics of pulsed dual magnetron discharge used for deposition of photoactive TiO <sub>2</sub> films ..... | 69 |
| A. Pazourek, M. CudlínováDependence of electrical resistivity of Fe-Al alloys with major contribution of Cr, C and Zr .....                                    | 71 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| V. PrysiazhnyiAtmospheric pressure DCSBD plasma cleaning and activation of aluminiumSurfaces .....                                                                                                                                            | 73 |
| T. Schmidtová, P. VašinaImpact of neutral gas temperatures on reactive magnetron sputtering .....                                                                                                                                                 | 75 |
| D. Skácelová, M. Haničinec, P. Sťahel, M. ČernákPlasma treatment of silicon surface .....                                                                                                                                                         | 77 |
| P. Souček, A.A. El Mel, P.Y. Tessier, M. Eliáš, V. Buršíková, P. VašinaPreparation of self-adhesive nc-TiC/a-C:H coatings .....                                                                                                                   | 79 |
| P. Synek, O. Jašek, M. Eliáš, L. Zajíčková, V. Kudrle, B. David, N. Pizúrová,R. Hanzlíková, A. RekSynthesis of carbon nanostructures in atmospheric pressure microwave plasmatorch with iron nanoparticles as precursors for growth ..... | 81 |
| V. Šatava, J. Musil, P. BarochHigh-rate reactive deposition of transparent SiO <sub>2</sub> films containing low amountof Zr from molten magnetron target .....                                                                               | 83 |
| J. Šimeček, A. KřížExamination of the impact resistance of PVD layers .....                                                                                                                                                                       | 85 |
| M. Svec, S. Novak, R. Hrach, D. MasloModels of composite films – shapes of inclusions .....                                                                                                                                                       | 87 |