

Contents

Introduction	ix
How to use this book	xi
Part A Structures	1
1 Overview of pronunciation and Pinyin romanization	3
2 Syllable, meaning, and word	4
3 The Chinese writing system: an overview	5
4 Phrase order in the Mandarin sentence	7
5 Nouns	10
6 Numbers	11
7 Specifiers and demonstratives	15
8 Classifiers	17
9 Noun phrases	20
10 Adjectival verbs	24
11 Stative verbs	26
12 Modal verbs	28
13 Action verbs	31
14 Prepositions and prepositional phrases	33
15 Adverbs	36
16 Conjunctions	38
17 The passive	39

Part B	Situations and functions	41
18	Names, kinship terms, titles, and terms of address	43
19	Introductions	45
20	Greetings and goodbyes	47
21	Basic strategies for communication	49
22	Telecommunications and e-communications: telephones, the internet, beepers, and faxes	51
23	Negating information	53
24	Asking questions and replying to questions	55
25	Expressing identification, possession, and existence	61
26	Describing people, places, and things	64
27	Describing how actions are performed	66
28	Indicating result, conclusion, potential, and extent	69
29	Making comparisons	74
30	Talking about the present	79
31	Talking about habitual actions	82
32	Talking about the future	84
33	Indicating completion and talking about the past	87
34	Talking about change, new situations, and changing situations	92
35	Talking about duration and frequency	96
36	Expressing additional information	100
37	Expressing contrast	102
38	Expressing sequence	106
39	Expressing simultaneous situations	109
40	Expressing cause and effect or reason and result	112

41	Expressing conditions	116
42	Expressing 'both,' 'all,' 'every,' 'any,' 'none,' 'not any,' and 'no matter how'	118
43	Expressing location and distance	122
44	Talking about movement, directions, and means of transportation	125
45	Talking about clock time and calendar time	128
46	Expressing obligations and prohibitions	133
47	Expressing commands and permission	135
48	Expressing ability and possibility	138
49	Expressing desires, needs, preferences, and willingness	141
50	Expressing knowledge, advice, and opinions	143
51	Expressing fear, worry, anxiety, and bad news	146
52	Expressing speaker attitudes and perspectives	148
53	Topic, focus, and emphasis	150
54	Guest and host	155
55	Giving and responding to compliments	156
56	Expressing satisfaction and dissatisfaction	158
57	Expressing gratitude and responding to expressions of gratitude	160
58	Invitations, requests, and refusals	162
59	Expressing apologies, regrets, and sympathy	165
60	Expressing congratulations and good wishes	167
	Answer key	169
	Index	261