

Contents

Preface	xv
Audio Files	xvii

How To Use This Book	1
----------------------	---

Tips: Before You Go

1 The Essential Learning-Chinese Kit: Buy This Stuff before You Go	11
2 How Hard Is It to Learn Chinese, Really?	13
3 Ditch Hanzi	13
4 Is China a Good Place to Learn Chinese?	14

Tips: After You Get There

5 The Informant	19
6 Practice at the Markets	24
7 Linguistic Arm Wrestling and Language Bandits	28
8 Commandeer Confusing Conversations	29
9 Gesture Phobia	30

10	Stating the Obvious	31
11	Field Notes	33
12	Practice Understanding	34
13	Flashcards and Flashbooks	36
14	A Master Vocabulary List	37
15	Label Your House	38
16	Power Pidgin	39
17	The Hanzi Web: Learn What the Little Pieces Mean	40
18	Think in Chinese	42
19	They Don't Understand My Chinese. What's Wrong?	44
20	Don't Set Your Goals Too High	46

Pronunciation

21	The Sounds	50
22	The Tones	73
23	Tips for Learning the Tones	92

Bare-Bones Vocabulary

24	Numbers	108
25	Pronouns	116
26	Hello	118
27	Please and Thank You	125
28	Sorry	126
29	Good-bye	127

30	Yes and No	129
31	Shopping	131
32	Eating and Drinking	140
33	How Not to Starve: What Foreigners Like to Order in China	146
34	Taxis, Buses, and Directions	153
35	Hotels	160
36	Time	164
37	Talking on the Phone and Exchanging Email Addresses	175
38	Other Good Phrases to Know	178

Vocabulary Builder

39	Bad to Good	183
40	Can / May	185
41	Confusing or Divergent Concepts	186
42	Crutches: "Um . . . uh . . . what's-his-name"	189
43	Culturally Relevant Vocabulary	190
44	Exclamations	200
45	Introductions	201
46	Measure Words: Top Eleven to Know (and Some Others)	204
47	On Campus	211
48	Proverbs	214
49	Sentence Connectors	215
50	Sentence Starters: "By the way . . ."	220
51	Talking about Language	222
52	Tongue Twisters	226

53	Words That Get Used a Lot	227
54	Learning New Vocabulary on the Fly	233

Listening

55	How Not to Practice Listening	242
56	Reduced Speech	244
57	Standard Mandarin versus Other Dialects and Accents	245
58	Stuff You Might Be Hearing	251
59	A Typical First Conversation with a Stranger	253

Grammar and Other Explanations

60	Adjectival Clauses: Good Weather for Riding Bikes	261
61	Adverbs: Throw Them in Front	263
62	Anything and Everything	266
63	Doubles: Tiāntiān 天天, Xièxie 谢谢	267
64	Comparing	269
65	Completed Action	272
66	Future Tense	273
67	If	276
68	Imperatives: Do's and Don'ts	278
69	Negatives	279
70	Object First	283
71	Object First: Bǎ 把	284
72	Passive Voice	285

73	Past Tense	286
74	Personification	291
75	Possessives: Mine, Yours, and the Book She Bought	292
76	Prepositions of Location	295
77	Present Continuous Tense: -ing	297
78	Questions	300
79	Sloppy Word Order	309
80	Subjects: He and I	310
81	Subjects: Leave "Me" out of It	311
82	Tricky Little Particles	312
83	What's That Apostrophe (Xī'ān) Doing There?	320
84	What's That "zi" 子 Thing?	320
85	Which Measure Words Do They Really Use?	321
86	Why Does Chinese Have Measure Words?	326
87	Zánmen 咱们	329
88	Learning New Grammar on the Fly	330

A Brief Overview of the Chinese Language

89	Chinese People's Attitude toward Hanzi and Pinyin	335
90	Hanzi: Two Systems	336
91	Other Romanization Systems Besides Pinyin	337
	Appendices	339
	Index	349