

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction	xvii
Reasons for the Guide	xvii
Practical Tools Inside	xix
The Book's Organization	xx
1 Issues in Integrative Medicine: Use and Availability of CAM	1
Introduction	1
Therapeutic Paradigms	2
Therapeutic Modalities	4
Therapeutic Access and Availability	5
Workforce	5
Models of Therapeutic Integration	6
Therapeutic Effectiveness and Cost-Effectiveness	8
Medical Education	9
Public Policy Issues	10
2 A Changing Health Care Market: Forces Shaping the Shift	13
Biomedical Dominance	13
Significant Legal and Regulatory Developments	16
Understanding and Defining CAM	17
Toward Integrative Health Care	20

	Anchoring an Ideal	21
	About Integrative Medicine Centers	23
3	Assessing the Landscape: Key Legal and Institutional Forces	27
	Legal Issues Governing Individual Providers	27
	Medical Licensure	27
	Scope of Practice Rules	30
	Professional Discipline	31
	Malpractice	32
	Fraud	34
	Legal Issues Governing Institutions	34
	Credentialing and Quality Assurance	34
	Potential Institutional Liability	37
	Institutional Forces	38
4	Starting Up and Growing: Overcoming Hurdles and Developing Sustainability	43
	Origins and Growth	43
	The Centers	44
	The Idea	45
	Funding	46
	The Mission	47
	The Business Plan	48
	Choosing Therapies and Practitioners	49
	Delivering Care	52
	When Patients First Come to the Center	52
	CAM Practitioners	54
	Working Relations—Internal Dynamics	56
	The Broader Network: Politics and Patience	58
	The Bottom Line: Financial Viability	60
	Conclusion	64
5	Getting Through the Door: Staffing and Credentialing Complementary Providers	65
	Credentialing and Staffing	65
	Case Studies: Paradigms and Politics	66
	5A: “Opportunity to Set Standards”	66
	5B: “It Was Easy Once the Scope Was Developed”	68
	5C: “That’s Discriminatory; That’s Racketeering”	69
	5D: “Fast Track”	71
	5E: “They Know I’m Legit”	72
	5F: “What I Need Is More Physicians Like Me”	73

5G: “Tell Us About Complications”	74
5H: Finding Mechanisms, Avoiding Lawsuits	74
5I: “All MDs and Nurses Right Now”	75
5J: “One of the Attorneys. . . .”	75
5K: “Creating Something New and Different”	77
5L: “We Haven’t Tried to Do Anything Controversial”	78
Issues Involving Scope of Practice Boundaries	79
Other Major Challenges	81
Model Strategies for Credentialing	82
Increase Institutional Buy-In	83
Adapt Credentialing Procedures for Allied Health Professionals	83
Review Pertinent National Professional Standards	84
Rely, Where Possible, on Human Resources Mechanism	84
Carefully Negotiate Authorized Scope of Practice	84
Educate Providers Toward Risk Management	85
6 Staying Afloat: Minimizing Potential Liability Exposure	87
Managing Individual Liability Risk	87
Managing Institutional Liability Risk	89
Team Processes—Handling Conflict	91
Case Studies: Managing Liability Exposure	92
6A: Reliance on Existing Hospital Strategies	92
6B: Coordination With Primary Care Services	93
6C: Supervision and Quality Assurance	95
6D: Institutional Scope of Practice	96
6E: Continue to Monitor Conventionally	98
6F: Awareness of Legal and Political Developments	98
6G: Address Medical Errors	99
6H: Test Outcomes and Modalities	99
6I: “Our Biggest Challenge Is Bureaucracy”	101
6J: Use A Screening Tool	102
6K: “Everything Is Documented”	103
6L: Use Independent Contractors	104
6M: Manage Patient Relationships to Help Avoid Litigation	105
Model Strategies for Managing Liability Risk	106
Limits on PCP Status	106
Draw on Existing Hospital Policies	108
Decide on Necessity for Referral From or To Primary Care Doctor	109
Avoid Claims About CAM Therapies	109
Determine Necessity of MD Supervision	109

	Decide on Whether to Narrow Institutional Scope of Practice	109
	Use Team Meetings to Iron Out Conflict	110
	Manage Patient Relationships	110
7	Empowering Patients: Effective Informed Consent	111
	Reasons for Informed Consent	111
	Satisfying the Legal Obligation	112
	Case Studies: Informing Patients About Clinical Risks	113
	7A: Standard Forms	113
	7B: “Legal Is Encouraging Me to Keep It Long”	113
	Model Strategies for Handling Informed Consent	114
	Use Informed Consent Forms Judiciously	114
	Insist on Appropriate Documentation	114
	Shared Decision Making and Ethical Considerations	114
8	The Supplements Question: Dealing with Dietary Supplements	119
	Regulatory Issues	119
	Responding to Patient Use	122
	Informed Consent, Conflicts, and Institutional Policy	123
	Case Studies: Crafting Dietary Supplement Policies	125
	8A: “One-Stop Shopping”	125
	8B: Information Available	126
	8C: “Long Way to Go”	126
	8D: Allow the Attending Physician to Decide	127
	8E: Educate, Warn	127
	8F: “Work on Evidence-Based Practice”	128
	8G: “We Snuck in Chinese Herbals”	128
	8H: “We Only Research Botanicals”	130
	8I: “None Are Recommended”	130
	8J: “We Go Undercover All the Time”	130
	8K: Looking for Red Flags	131
	Model Strategies for Handling Dietary Supplements	133
	Limit Recommendations to Products With Known Quality Assurance	134
	Offer Informational Resources for Providers	134
	Limit Use of Dietary Supplements to “Wellness” Care	134
	Emphasize Overall Health Strategy	135
	Emphasize Evidence Base	135
	Limit Scope of Practice	135
	Check for Adverse Reactions and Other Red Flags	135

9 Integrative Medicine for Pharmacy: Dietary Supplements in Practice	137
Federal Policy and Statutes	137
Legislative and Regulatory Environment	137
Research Experiences With Specific Herbal Remedies	139
Adulteration	141
Integrative Medical Practice	142
Medical Education	143
Public Policy Issues	143
Resources	144
10 Future Health Care: Navigating Ongoing Institutional Politics	147
Conclusion	151
Appendixes
A Interview Questions (Policies and Procedures)	155
B Centers Interviewed	159
C Clinic Characteristics	161
D Guidelines for Dietary Supplements	165
General Considerations for the Use of Herbs	165
Herbs for Health	166
Safety	166
Pregnancy, Breastfeeding, and Children	167
Aging	167
Selection and Use of Herbs	167
Standardized Extracts	167
Herbal Preparations and Dosing	168
Regulatory Issues	169
References and Resources	169
E Resources	173
Journals and Miscellaneous	173
Books	174
Notes	177
Index	195