

■ IN BRIEF

16 ● A management scuffle at the London Exchange ● A volcano traps tourists in Bali ● Bitcoin's busy day

■ REMARKS

18 The GOP doubles down on trickle-down

■ VIEW

20 Cutting down trees to fight climate change

1 BUSINESS

23 Hey, Amazon—Wal-Mart already figured out online groceries. In China

24 Cirque du Soleil comes to Times Square to show you how to throw a football

26 Hoping a hybrid pickup can keep its "Built Ford Tough" appeal

2 TECHNOLOGY

29 With help from Silicon Valley, GM leads the driverless race

30 The planet-saving anti-burp cow vaccine

32 Where Angry Birds can't seem to fly

3 FINANCE

35 The stock market is an old person's game

36 You got rid of your encyclopedias years ago, but Warren Buffett is hanging on to his

37 China's man, his plan, and a canal: Nicaragua

4 ECONOMICS

40 Theresa May braces for Brexit sticker shock

41 Turns out, the giant sucking sound from NAFTA was coming out of Mexico

42 Failing farms may dim the Kurds' dreams of independence

5 POLITICS

45 The battle to control (or kill?) the CFPB

46 Putin maintains his iron grip everywhere except in his own backyard

47 At the exceedingly popular Truthfeed, the fake news is homegrown, not Russian

49 UN peace talks should reset the table in Syria

47 "We will NEVER speak to mainstream media, or ANY liberal media, ever. They can SUCK IT"

