

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
List of abbreviations	ix
Acknowledgements	xii
1 Introduction	1
Identifying the gap in the literature	2
Advocating individual interests	8
Research questions and the focus of the book	13
Research method and the selection of cases	15
Structure of the book	18
2 The Czech Republic in the EU: from a new member state to a member state	20
Czech foreign policy interests	22
Czech coordination of European affairs	24
Coordination of external policies	28
Representation of Czech interests in external relations	31
3 Perceptions of Czech representatives in the Council of their work	34
Collection period, response rate, and structure of respondents	40
Experience of Czech diplomats posted in Brussels	41
Methods and tools for Czech interest promotion	43
Human resources and their exploitation	57
Summary of the chapter's findings and partial conclusions	58
4 External trade: reforming the Generalised System of Preferences	62
Motivation and proposal for change	63
Negotiation framework and results	64

Czech interest and engagement in EU external trade	66
Formulation of the Czech negotiation position	67
Czech activity during the negotiations	68
Evaluation of the Czech engagement	70
5 European Neighbourhood Policy: introducing the more-for-more principle to the European Neighbourhood Instrument	73
Motivation and proposal for change	74
Negotiation framework and results	76
Czech interest and engagement in the European Neighbourhood Policy	78
Formulation of the Czech negotiation position	80
Czech activity during the negotiations	81
Evaluation of the Czech engagement	82
6 Democracy and human rights: implementing the recommendations of EU Election Observation Missions	85
Motivation and proposal for change	87
Negotiation framework and results	88
Czech interest and engagement in EU Election Observation Missions	90
Formulation of the Czech negotiation position	91
Czech activity during the negotiations	92
Evaluation of the Czech engagement	94
7 Common Security and Defence Policy: extending the mandate for EUMM Georgia in 2014	97
Motivation and proposal for change	98
Negotiation framework and results	99
Czech interest and engagement in the CSDP	100
Formulation of the Czech negotiation position	102
Czech activity during the negotiations	103
Evaluation of the Czech engagement	104
8 Conclusions	107
Main findings of the book	108
Relevance for the academic literature	112
What does the Czech case say about other member states?	114
Opportunities for further research	115
List of interviews	117
Bibliography	120
Index	136