

| | PAGE |
|--|------|
| THE MAKING OF THE CONSERVATIVE MIND | i |
| FOREWORD TO THE SEVENTH REVISED EDITION | xiii |
| I THE IDEA OF CONSERVATISM | 3 |
| II BURKE AND THE POLITICS OF PRESCRIPTION | 12 |
| 1. Burke's career | 12 |
| 2. The radical systems | 23 |
| 3. Providence and veneration | 28 |
| 4. Prejudice and prescription | 37 |
| 5. The rights of civil social man | 47 |
| 6. Equality and aristocracy | 58 |
| 7. The principle of order | 64 |
| III JOHN ADAMS AND LIBERTY UNDER LAW | 71 |
| 1. Federalists and Republicans | 71 |
| 2. Alexander Hamilton | 75 |
| 3. Fisher Ames' vaticinations | 80 |
| 4. John Adams as psychologist | 86 |
| 5. The aristocracy of nature | 93 |
| 6. American constitutions | 98 |
| 7. Marshall and the metamorphosis of federalism | 110 |
| IV ROMANTICS AND UTILITARIANS | 114 |
| 1. Benthamism and Walter Scott | 114 |
| 2. Canning and enlightened conservatism | 124 |
| 3. Coleridge and conservative ideas | 133 |
| 4. The triumph of abstraction | 146 |
| V SOUTHERN CONSERVATISM: RANDOLPH AND CALHOUN | 150 |
| 1. Southern impulses | 150 |
| 2. Randolph on the peril of positive legislation | 155 |

- 3. The rights of minorities: Calhoun 168
- 4. The valor of the South 181

VI LIBERAL CONSERVATIVES: MACAULAY, COOPER, TOCQUEVILLE 185

- 1. Burke's influence upon liberalism 185
- 2. Macaulay on democracy 188
- 3. Fenimore Cooper and a gentleman's America 197
- 4. Tocqueville on democratic despotism 204
- 5. Democratic prudence 216

VII TRANSITIONAL CONSERVATISM: NEW ENGLAND
SKETCHES 225

- 1. Industrialism as a leveller 225
- 2. John Quincy Adams and progress: his aspirations and his failure 231
- 3. The illusions of transcendentalism 240
- 4. Brownson on the conservative power of Catholicism 245
- 5. Nathaniel Hawthorne: society and sin 250

VIII CONSERVATISM WITH IMAGINATION:
DISRAELI AND NEWMAN 260

- 1. Marx's materialism; and the fruits of liberalism 260
- 2. Disraeli and Tory loyalties 266
- 3. Newman: the sources of knowledge and the idea of education 279
- 4. The age of discussion: Bagehot 294

IX LEGAL AND HISTORICAL CONSERVATISM: A TIME OF FOREBODING 298

- 1. Liberalism and collectivism:
John Stuart Mill, Comte, and positivism 298
- 2. Stephen on the ends of life and politics 304
- 3. Maine: status and contract 315
- 4. Lecky: illiberal democracy 327

| | | |
|------|---|-----|
| X | CONSERVATISM FRUSTRATED: AMERICA, 1865-1918 | 337 |
| | 1. The Gilded Age | 337 |
| | 2. James Russell Lowell's perplexities | 341 |
| | 3. Godkin on democratic opinion | 348 |
| | 4. Henry Adams on the degradation of the democratic dogma | 356 |
| | 5. Brooks Adams and a world of terrible energies | 366 |
| XI | ENGLISH CONSERVATISM ADRIFT: THE TWENTIETH CENTURY | 375 |
| | 1. The end of aristocratic politics: 1906 | 375 |
| | 2. George Gissing and the Nether World | 380 |
| | 3. Arthur Balfour: his spiritual conservatism; and the tide of socialism | 387 |
| | 4. The books of W. H. Mallock: a conservative synthesis | 396 |
| | 5. A dreary conservatism between wars | 410 |
| XII | CRITICAL CONSERVATISM: BABBITT, MORE, SANTAYANA | 415 |
| | 1. Pragmatism: the fumbling of America | 415 |
| | 2. Irving Babbitt's humanism: the higher will in a democracy | 419 |
| | 3. Paul Elmer More on justice and faith | 432 |
| | 4. George Santayana buries liberalism | 443 |
| | 5. America in search of ideas | 453 |
| XIII | CONSERVATIVES' PROMISE | 457 |
| | 1. Radicalism's sickness | 457 |
| | 2. The new elite | 466 |
| | 3. Scholar confronts intellectual | 475 |
| | 4. The conservative as poet | 491 |
| | NOTES | 503 |
| | BIBLIOGRAPHY | 515 |
| | INDEX | 525 |