CONTENTS

| CHAPTER ONE Trade Imbalances and the                      |    |
|---|----|
| Global Financial Crisis                                   | 1  |
| Underconsumption  | 4  |
| The Different Explanations of Trade Imbalance             | 6  |
| Destabilizing Imbalances                                  | 9  |
| We Have the Tools   | 11 |
| Why the Confusion?  | 14 |
| Some Accounting Identities                                | 17 |
| The Inanity of Moralizing                                 | 19 |
| The New Economic Writing                                  | 22 |
| CHAPTER TWO How Does Trade Intervention Work?             | 26 |
|   |    |
| Trade Intervention Affects the Savings Rate               | 29 |
| Currency Manipulation                                     | 32 |
| Exporting Capital Means Importing Demand                  | 34 |
| What Happens If China Revalues the Renminbi?              | 37 |
| Wealth Is Transferred within China                        | 40 |
| Does China Need a Social Safety Net?                      | 42 |
| CHAPTER THREE The Many Forms of Trade Intervention        | 47 |
| How Changes in Wealth Affect Savings                      | 50 |
| Wage Growth   | 52 |
| Trade Policy as the Implicit Consequence of Transfers     | 55 |
| Financial Repression                                      | 58 |
| Higher Interest Rates and Household Wealth                | 61 |
| Do Higher Interest Rates Stimulate or Reduce Consumption? | 64 |
| Currency versus Interest Rates                            | 66 |
| SOLICITION 2 AND  |    |
| CHAPTER FOUR The Case of Unbalanced                       |    |
| Growth in China   | 69 |
| What Kind of Imbalance?                                   | 74 |
| Growth Miracles Are Not New                               | 78 |

| The Brazilian Miracle   | 81  |
|---|-----|
| Powering Growth   | 84  |
| Paying for Subsidies  | 87  |
| Limits to Backwardness  | 89  |
| The Trade Impact  | 92  |
| A Lost Decade?  | 94  |
| Can China Manage the Transition More Efficiently?             | 96  |
| Some More Misconceptions                                      | 97  |
| CHAPTER FIVE The Other Side of the Imbalances                 | 100 |
| Can Europe Change American Savings Rates?                     | 103 |
| How Does Trade Rebalance?                                     | 106 |
| Globalization Is Not Bilateral                                | 109 |
| The Global Shopping Spree                                     | 113 |
| Trade Remains Unbalanced                                      | 115 |
| CHAPTER SIX The Case of Europe                                | 119 |
| The Mechanics of Crisis                                       | 122 |
| Too Late  | 125 |
| German Thrift   | 128 |
| Forcing Germany to Adjust                                     | 131 |
| Two-Sided Adjustment  | 133 |
| CHAPTER SEVEN Foreign Capital, Go Home!                       | 136 |
| Swapping Assets   | 139 |
| It's about Trade, Not Capital                                 | 142 |
| Trade Imbalances Lead to Debt Imbalances                      | 144 |
| The Current Account Dilemma                                   | 147 |
| CHAPTER EIGHT The Exorbitant Burden                           | 150 |
| Why Buy Dollars?  | 153 |
| It Is Better to Give Than to Receive                          | 157 |
| Foreigners Fund Current Account Deficits, Not Fiscal Deficits | 161 |
| Rebalancing the Scales  | 163 |

| When Are Net Capital Inflows a Good Thing?      | 166 |
|---|-----|
| Can We Live without the Dollar?                 | 168 |
| Why Not Use SDRs?                               | 172 |
| An American Push Away from Exorbitant Privilege | 174 |
| CHAPTER NINE When Will the Global Crisis End?   | 178 |
| Transferring the Center of the Crisis           | 180 |
| Reversing the Rebalancing                       | 183 |
| Some Predictions                                | 185 |
| The Global Impact                               | 191 |
|   |     |
| Notes   | 197 |
| Index   | 205 |
|   |     |