

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS vii

INTRODUCTION: "WARNING" 1

Beyond Objecthood 10

The Exhibition as a Critical Form since 1968 16

CHAPTER 1: THE RISE OF THE EXHIBITION AS A FORM 21

Staging Grounds 21

Robert Smithson: The Time to See Non-Sites 23

Against a "Manneristic Modernism" 24

The Non-Site as Exhibition 29

Michael Asher: The Gallery as an Experiential Environment 32

Other Frames for the Viewer 39

At Münster: Moving toward the Perimeters 42

Group Material: Reshaping Forms 50

Grabbing Hold of the Technique 55

The Exhibition as a Work 57

Inhabiting the Institution: Modes of the Dialectic 62

CHAPTER 2: ON NEW INSTITUTIONALISM 71

The Critical Work 71

The Curator in Charge: This Is Harald Szeemann's Documenta 75

The Venice Biennale: Yesterday and Today 92

The 24/7 Biennial: Context Is Everything	97
Relational Art: Values of Encounters	100
“learning to inhabit the world in a better way”	101
Manifesta: Anti-Biennial as New Institution	104
Manifesta 2: The Nonthematic, Thematic Exhibition	107
The Lifestyle Package	113
Kunstverein München: Invisible Orbits with Visible Change	128
The Future Is Now	134

CHAPTER 3: THE EFFICACY OF A CRITICAL ART 139

The Critical According to Jacques Rancière	139
Now Is Our Time: Martha Rosler, Josephine Meckseper, and Levi’s	143
Thomas Hirschhorn: A Guilty Pleasure	162
Presence and Production: The Bijlmer Spinoza-Festival	166
The Crystallization of a Micro-Society	172
One Immersive World	177
Harnessing the Means of the Exhibition	183
Anton Vidokle: They don’t have to be done like that	185
Michel Foucault: The Critical Attitude	190
Assuming the Shape of the Work	193

CHAPTER 4: THE INDUSTRIAL ART COMPLEX 197

The Educational Turn in the Exhibition	197
Unexpected Byproducts of a Failed Manifesta	198
An Exhibition-as-School Grows in the Former East Berlin	200
A Mode of Address in the Curatorial Technique	207
New Institutionalism and Its Critics	209
An “Office” for Contemporary Art in Norway	212
Thinking Things Otherwise	213
An Expansion of the Public Sphere	216
What Ever Happened to New Institutionalism?	222
Carsten Höller: Down a Slide	224

CONCLUSION: ON THE ROAD 231

NOTES 235

INDEX 265