

Contents

Activities of Forest Management Institute	5
The third Italian National Forest Inventory: state of implementation, methodological issues and first results of the survey	7
Efforts to improve the National Forest Inventory in Poland	9
The sampling and estimation methods of the Romanian NFI: an example of two phase sampling with clustered plots	11
The National Forest Inventory in the Republic of Bulgaria - a recognized need	13
The German NFI - upcoming methodological and technological issues	15
FAO support to national forest monitoring and the open foris initiative	17
Repeated application of an upper diameter model	19
Domain estimation and poststratification in national forest inventory	21
A new variance estimator for spatially restricted sampling designs	23
A functional regression model for inventories supported by aerial laser scanner data or photogrammetric point clouds	25
The estimation of periodic volume increment from permanent inventories with pps-sampling design	27
Processing and analysis of national forest inventory data - the current Swiss and Czech systems	29
Individual tree crown projection area models based on the data of National forest inventory of the Czech Republic	31