	INTRODUCTION (J. Hobstová)	9
Part I	BASIC PRINCIPLES IN THE DIAGNOSIS, MANAGEMENT AND PREVENTION OF INFECTIOUS DISEASES
1.	BASIC AIDS TO THE DIAGNOSIS OF INFECTION	13
1.1	Microbiological diagnostic methods (J. Hančil)	13
1.2	Immunological methods of infectious agent diagnostics (D. Pícha)	14
2.	ANTIINFECTIVE THERAPY	16
2.1	Antibiotics (J. Beneš)	16
2.1.1	Review of antibiotics	16
2.1.2	Mechanisms of resistance	40
2.2	Antiviral agents (H. Rozsypal)	40
2.3	Antifungal drugs (L. Machala)	43
3.	PREVENTION AND PROPHYLAXIS (J. Hobstová, Z. Mandáková)	48
3.1	Active immunisation	48
3.2	Passive immunisation	54
3.3	Adverse events of vaccination	55
3.4	Contraindications to vaccination	56
Part II	CLINICAL SYNDROMES
4.	RESPIRATORY INFECTIONS (V. Marešová)	59
4.1	Upper respiratory tract infections	60
4.1.1	Rhinitis acuta, rhinopharyngitis acuta, the common cold	60
4.1.2	Acute pharyngitis/tonsilopharyngitis (tonsillitis)	61
4.1.3	Acute otitis media	62
4.1.4	Acute sinusitis	63
4.1.5	Laryngitis subglottica, laryngotracheitis acuta (croup):	64
4.1.6	Epiglottitis acuta	65

4.2	Lower respiratory tract infections	66
4.2.1	Acute bronchitis or tracheobronchitis	66
4.2.2	Pertussis (whooping cough)	67
4.2.3	Influenza	69
4.2.4	Bronchiolitis acuta	70
4.2.5	Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia, atypical pneumonia	72
5.	INFECTIONS OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM	77
5.1	Infections of the Central Nervous System	77
5.1.1	Differential diagnostic considerations (J. Hobstová)	78
5.1.2	Bacterial meningitis (J. Hobstová)	80
5.1.3	Meningococcal infections (J. Hobstová)	84
5.1.4	Viral Infections of Central Nervous System (D. Pícha)	85
5.2	Peripheral neurological lesion associated with infection (D. Pícha)	91
6.	GASTROINTESTINAL INFECTIONS AND FOOD POISONING (H. Ambrožová)	93
6.1	Non-infectious causes of diarrhoea	93
6.2	Diarrhoea of infectious origin	94
6.2.1	Differential diagnosis of infectious diarrhoea	94
6.2.2	List of possible pathogens	95
6.2.3	Food poisonings	95
6.2.4	Bacterial infections	98
6.3	Basic principles in treatment of diarrhoea	111
7.	VIRAL HEPATITIS (J. Viechová)	113
7.1	Hepatitis A	113
7.2	Hepatitis B	116
7.3	Hepatitis D	119
7.4	Hepatitis C	120
7.5	Hepatitis E	122
7.6	Hepatitis G	123
8.	EXANTHEM OF INFECTIOUS ORIGIN (O. Džupová)	125
8.1	Macular and/or Papular Exanthem	126
8.1.1	Measles (rubeola, morbilli)	126
8.1.2	Rubella (German measles)	127
8.1.3	Fifth disease (erythema infectiosum)	128
8.1.4	Sixth disease (exanthem subitum, roseola infantum)	129
8.1.5	Coxsackieviruses and echoviruses	129
8.1.6	Adenoviruses	129
8.1.7	Epstein-Barr virus	129
8.1.8	Meningococemia, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and Dengue fever	129

8.1.9	Typhoid fever	129
8.1.10	Erythema multiforme	129
8.2	Vesiculobullous Exanthem	130
8.2.1	Varicella (chickenpox)	130
8.2.2	Herpes simplex infection	132
8.2.3	Hand, foot and mouth disease	132
8.2.4	Impetigo	133
8.2.5	Bullous skin lesions with sepsis	133
8.3	Nodular lesions	133
8.4	Diffuse erythema	134
8.4.1	Scarlet fever	134
8.4.2	Scalded skin syndromes	135
8.4.3	Staphylococcal scarlet fever	136
8.5	Petechial purpuric eruptions	136
8.6	Enanthem	136
9.	SEPSIS AND SEPTIC SYNDROME	138
9.1	Sepsis and septic shock (M. Holub)	138
9.2	Infectious endocarditis (L. Machala)	143
9.3	Kawasaki syndrome (J. Hobstová)	148

Part III OTHER CLINICALLY IMPORTANT INFECTIOUS DISEASES AND THEIR ETIOLOGICAL AGENTS

10.	VIRAL DISEASES	151
10.1	DNA Viruses	151
10.1.1	Herpesviridae (J. Hobstová)	151
10.2	RNA Viruses	154
10.2.1	Paramyxoviridae (J. Hobstová)	154
10.2.2	Rhabdoviridae (H. Ambrožová)	155
11.	BACTERIAL DISEASES	158
11.1	Common aerobic infections	158
11.1.1	Grampositive cocci (O. Džupová)	158
11.1.2	Grampositive bacilli (V. Aster, J. Hobstová)	173
11.1.3	Gramnegative cocci (see meningococcal infections in CNS infections)	179
11.1.4	Gramnegative bacilli (V. Aster, J. Hančil)	179
11.2	Anaerobic Infections (O. Džupová)	192
11.2.1	Soft tissue infections	195
11.2.2	Tetanus (lock jaw) (J. Hobstová)	199
12.	MYCOSES (L. Machala)	201
12.1	Candidiasis	201

12.2	Cryptococcosis	204
12.3	Aspergillosis	205
12.4	Histoplasmosis	207
12.5	Coccidioidomycosis	208
13.	PARASITIC DISEASES (L. Machala)	209
13.1	Parasitic infections of gastrointestinal tract	210
13.1.1	Protozoal infections	210
13.1.2	Helminthic infections	212
13.2	Parasitic infection of blood and tissue	216
13.2.1	Protozoal infections	216
13.2.2	Helminthic infections	220

Part IV INFECTIONS IN SPECIAL HOSTS

14.	CONGENITAL INFECTIONS (I. Havlíčková)	227
14.1	Congenital Rubella	227
14.2	Congenital toxoplasmosis	228
14.3	Congenital CMV infection	229
14.4	Congenital herpes simplex virus infection	230
14.5	Congenital varicella zoster infection	230
14.6	Congenital human parvovirus B 19 infection	231
14.7	Congenital HIV infection	231
14.8	Congenital syphilis	232
14.9	Congenital listeriosis	232
14.10	Infection with hepatitis B virus	233
15.	INFECTIONS IN IMMUNOCOMPROMISED HOSTS (J. Hobstová)	234
16.	INFECTIONS IN INTRAVENOUS DRUG USERS (J. Hobstová)	236
17.	HIV DISEASE (H. Rozsypal)	237
18.	IMPORTED DISEASES (Z. Mandáková)	250
