

Contents:

List of abbreviations.....	6
1. Introduction	8
2. Fertility awareness-based methods (FABM)	10
2.1. Terminological issues.....	10
2.1.1. The term natural family planning/natural conception regulation.....	10
2.1.2. “Natural” and “unnatural” in the context of conception regulation	13
2.2. Prevalence of NFP worldwide.....	17
2.3. Categorization and characteristics of the NFP methods.....	19
2.3.1. Methods based on a calculation or single standard rule.....	19
2.3.2. Methods based on the observation of the signs of fertility	19
2.3.3. Lactational amenorrhea and “ecological breastfeeding”	22
2.4. Length of sexual abstinence	24
2.5. The reliability of NFP for pregnancy avoidance	27
3. Psychological research into fertility regulation	33
3.1. Acceptability of conception regulation methods.....	33
3.2. Preferred characteristics	36
3.3. Ethical and religious aspects of the choice of conception regulation	39
3.4. The general effect of conception regulation on coital frequency.....	42
3.5. Specific psychological research on contraception	43
4. Choice and use of NFP/FA.....	46
4.1. Theoretical models of marriage.....	46
4.1.1. Theory of social exchange.....	46
4.1.2. Behavioural theory	47
4.1.3. The integrative model according to Karney & Bradbury (1995).....	49
4.1.4. Theory of commitment.....	51
4.2. Factors affecting the choice of NFP	55
4.2.1. Hypothetical acceptability of NFP	56
4.2.2. Initial acceptability of NFP	59
4.2.3. Motivation for the choice of NFP	60
4.3. Predictors of consistent use and satisfaction with NFP.....	61

4.3.1. Integrative model of NFP use, satisfaction and continuation.....	61
4.3.2. Processes of adaptation to the demands of NFP	63
4.3.3. Sexual self-control and coping with sexual abstinence.....	66
4.3.4. The menstrual cycle and female sexuality within the context of NFP	70
4.3.5. Previous experience with contraception.....	75
4.3.6. The participation of men	75
5. The effect of NFP use on the marital relationship.....	77
5.1. Marital quality: comparative studies of NFP and contraception.....	77
5.2. General effect of NFP on the marital relationship	79
5.3. Communication	82
5.4. Intimacy.....	83
5.4.1. Intimacy in marriage and relationships	83
5.4.2. Intimacy and the use of NFP	84
5.5. Sexual behaviour and satisfaction	85
5.5.1. The relationship between sexuality and marital satisfaction.....	85
5.5.2. Gender differences in sexuality.....	87
5.5.3. Descriptive data on the frequency of sexual activity	88
5.5.4. The sexual behaviour and satisfaction of FABM users.....	89
5.6. Religious practice	95
5.6.1. Religiosity and the quality of marriage	95
5.6.2. The use of NFP and religiosity.....	97
5.7. The use of NFP and stability of marriage	99
5.8. Conclusion: The effect of NFP on users and the relationship.....	101
6. General conclusions.....	105
7. References	107