

Contents

Contents	5
Acknowledgements	6
List of illustrations	7
Abbreviations	10
Bibliography	12
Preface (by Ladislav Bareš)	22
1. The Tomb of Padihor (by Filip Coppens)	23
1.1. Architecture of the tomb complex	23
1.1.1. The location	23
1.1.2. The superstructure	24
1.1.3. The substructure	28
1.2. The owner of the tomb	39
1.2.1. Padihor	39
1.2.2. The title rh nswt ; 'king's acquaintance'	44
1.2.3. The remains of Padihor	46
1.3. The inscriptions	46
1.3.1. Introduction	46
1.3.2. The lintel above the entrance: offering list	47
1.3.3. The north wall: PT 268 and 269	50
1.3.4. The south wall: CT 151, 625, 208, 716 and 352	54
1.3.5. The west wall: PT 77, 78, 81 and 25	60
1.3.6. The ceiling: PT 251, 249, 252, and 422	66
1.3.7. Proofreading in the burial chamber of Padihor	69
1.3.8. Conclusion	71
1.4. Finds	73
1.4.1. The shabtis of Padihor	73
1.4.2. Other finds	81
1.5. An Arabic inscription in Padihor's shaft tomb (by František Ondráš)	82
1.6. Conclusion	83
2. The Anonymous Tomb R3 (by Květa Smoláriková)	85
2.1. Archaeology and architecture of the tomb complex	85
2.2. The architectural development of the 'last' shaft tomb and its model	94
2.3. The pottery	98
3. Anthropological report on the burials from inside and outside the anonymous shaft tomb R3 (by Eugen Strouhal)	105
3.1. Introduction	105
3.2. The adults from the mixed up bones near the surface	105
3.3. The original burial from the sarcophagus of the anonymous tomb R3	108
3.4. Conclusion	109
Index	111
Plates	113