

OBSAH

---

Introduction: Welcome to the free market.	1
The free market. A long way from the jungle.	2
A free market is not all good news.	3
Getting rich in an enterprise culture. The American way.	4
The Thatcher Revolution. The need for wealth creation.	5
Germany. An economic miracle.	6
Japan. Military defeat, economic victory.	7
Scandinavia. Social democracy and the free market.	8
Singapore. Central planning and free enterprise.	9
Democracy and the free market.	10
Characteristics of the free market.	11
The customer market. Who will buy your wares?	12
The supply market. Provisions win wars.	13
The labour market. The more they want you, the more they'll pay you.	14

The ownership market. Buying and selling businesses.	15
Management buyouts. Employee shareholdings.	16
Public or private enterprise? Who should own the necessities of life?	17
Capitalism. It's not as bad as it sounds.	18
Pity the poor money lenders. God bless investors.	19
Risk and reward.	20
Working capital. Making friends with the bank.	21
Loans and shares. Capital from lenders and owners.	22
Venture capital. An adventurous form of finance.	23
Money provided from the public purse. The long arm of government.	24
The banking system. Pumping money round the economy.	25
The cashless society. From credit card to intelligent card.	26
The stock exchange. A market for the buying and selling of shares and loan stock.	27
Stock exchanges and the casino effect.	28

The foreign exchange market. Money makes the world go round.	29
Other markets. Everything from gold to soya beans.	30
The shareholder. He who pays the piper calls the tune?	31
Free market. Free trade.	32
The global market. No country can stand alone.	33
The free market economy. The coat of many colours.	34
Small is beautiful. But vulnerable.	35
The limited liability company. An engine of free market growth.	36
The company. It's just like a person really.	37
"Public" and "private" companies. Different horses for different courses.	38
The business partnership. A simple, but sometimes troublesome, way to share trading risks.	39
Co-operatives and mutual societies. Share and share alike.	40
Franchising. Sharing the work and the profits of a good idea.	41
The company as welfare state.	42

Regulating the free market. Laws for this and laws for that.	43
Regulation of capital markets. Controlling the money man.	44
The auditor's report. A second opinion on the accounts.	45
Competition. Getting the most out of people and economies.	46
The business of taxation. Money for the public purse.	47
Avoiding taxes. An international sport.	48
The consumer society. Buy, buy, buy.	49
The growth of service industries.	50
Foreign investment and the multi- national nature of free markets.	51
The importance of infrastructure. Enabling the wheels to turn.	52
The electronic age. The desktop computer.	53
Pollution. Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.	54