

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
List of Illustrations	ix
Introduction: The Production of Korean Global Space	1
Chapter 1 A Brief Urban History of Seoul	21
Chapter 2 Rediscovered Traditions: Remodelled Hanoks in Bukchon	44
Chapter 3 From Mary's Alley to a Culture Street: Contested Traditions in Insadong	69
Chapter 4 Rediscoveries and Redesigns: Dongdaemun History and Culture Park	94
Chapter 5 A Foreign Country in Seoul: Itaewon's Multicultural Streets	123
Conclusion: Going Beyond the Cultural City	142
References	150
Index	165

I thank following mentors and colleagues for reading and commenting on various parts and stages of this manuscript: Professor Bong-bee Jeon at Seoul National University, Yael Aliwell, Yohi Liu, Jennifer Choo, Cecilia Chu, Shih-Yang Kao, Seung-Youn Oh, Aileen Cruz, Orta Shaughnessy, Yungeong Oh. Thanks to Violet Chamratho for editing part of the book and making valuable suggestions. In particular, I would like to thank William Headreder for the considerable effort and great skill he applied to editing the manuscript. I also thank staff at University of California, Berkeley and Hongik University Architecture Department for their support.

This research would not have been possible without the financial support of many