I LIKE THE WAY THE DOO DADS FLY

I like the way the doo dads fly
 With just a kiss I blew you up into the marrow sky
 Twirled n' swirled ripe like rotten gold
 Cold like silver in a bed stream, trees cracked like egg creams
 The swarm wet green fingery hives
 I like the way the doo dad flies
 Neopolitan landscape runs wet my eyes
 I like the way the doo dads fly
 The pink startled morning giggles just ahead behind the bush
 A dark hollow echo streams
 Views me from a circle formed of fiber eyes
 Speak seek n' sing babble, magnify
 Like wet shapeless babies
 Clearly the dew drops cry
 Spill n' pass from hand to hand
 N' layed gently ready to explode
 N' the sand combed streamed
 N' the trouts blur like herded sperm rainbows
 Bubbles like glass spurs paddle 'neath the foot bridge
 Lily's pad bulb, orange spotty
 Frogs lick God's lucky green tongue
 Dragon flies bi-planes
 The sun hung like a lone orange
 N' a blue tree fell over ripe into the sea
 N' swam like a giant starfish

BLEEDING GOLDEN LADDER

Bleeding golden ladder clacked night black lobsters
 With one white sun charged shell someone sparkled
 With tiny salt clusters popping with the deep pressures of space
 Many reached the emery ocean n' glowed on its bottom
 Crippled with sand worn pincetures* for their life's place
 Spent loose against tide ripples
 Returned up the ladder to top light's return next night

*pincers

ONE NEST ROLLS AFTER ANOTHER

One nest rolls after another
 Untill there are no longer any birds
 One tongue lashes another
 Untill there are no words
 I love
 Sails
 No birds
