
Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
Foreword by Baroness Hale of Richmond	xiii
Introduction	1
Outline of the book	4
1 Positioning the woman judge	7
A pen portrait of the judiciary of England and Wales	7
A comparative perspective	17
Arguments for judicial diversity	23
Legitimacy and public confidence	23
Equity	26
Difference	27
2 Delivering diversity in the legal profession	31
Rejecting the trickle-up argument	31
Treading water – a statistical profile of women in the legal profession	36
Barristers	36
Solicitors	40
Legal executives	44
Stagnating, not trickling-up	45
Commitment, choice and other old chestnuts	47
Long hours and greedy employers	48
Old boys and mini-mes	53
Invisible pregnancies and self-raising families	58
Moving beyond the trickle-up argument	65
3 How we appoint judges	69
Judicial appointment? Not for the likes of me . . .	69
From Lord Chancellor to Judicial Appointments Commission	72

	The JAC: new broom, same old cobwebs	76
	Setting the ground rules	77
	Appointments up to and including the High Court	78
	Appointments to the Court of Appeal and leadership positions	80
	Appointments of Supreme Court justices (including President and Deputy President)	84
	A work in progress – reinventing the new wheel	88
	Delivering judicial diversity: high hopes and false expectations	91
	Grasping the nettle – quotas, targets and other forms of diversity-engineering	95
	Getting off on the wrong foot	100
4	Representations of the woman judge: revisiting the little mermaid	107
	Setting the scene	108
	Once upon a time – telling stories of the woman judge	110
	Turning the page	120
	Opting out – non-fiction accounts of women judges	121
	Undressing the judge	125
	Coda	128
5	Difference and the default judge	129
	The default judge: superhero, every-judge or fiction?	129
	Excluding difference	136
	Embracing difference	138
	Lawyering and judging in a different voice	138
	Searching for judicial difference	142
	Reclaiming difference	146
	The default judge and the different voice	146
	Women judges: making a difference	149
	Radmacher (formerly Granatino) v Granatino	151
	R v J	158
	What difference?	162
6	Making the argument for judicial diversity	165
	Diversity in judging	166
	Improving the judicial product	169
	Judging gender: K and Fornah in the House of Lords	172
	Redressing judicial disadvantage	177
	Parkinson v St James and Seacroft Hospital NHS Trust	180
	A diverse judiciary is a better judiciary	185

Maximising diversity, maximising merit 187
Merit, dislodged 189
Merit, distorted 191
Merit in diversity 194
Letting go of the default judge, welcoming diversity 195

Concluding remarks 199
Bibliography 203
Index 221