

This compilation is a definitive ornithological collection of songs and calls of our American birds found in marshes, prairies, deserts and beaches. We've recorded some of the most familiar and some of the extraordinary members of the bird world. Ranging from dainty wren to abundant common sparrows to the raucous crows. Screaming whistles - explosive trills - cooing rattles - croaks to ethereal songs. . .

We invite you to play the listening game. . . accept a challenge to be able to identify bird songs or call notes. Use this recording to help you to become adept as a bird-watcher or just to add to the enjoyment of being outdoors. Note that the songs and calls are indexed to enable you to select the individual birds in the shortest time possible.

Complete Listing Inside

This CD features the renowned retrieval system that allows you to instantly access each bird song.

The random access feature that allows this instantaneous selection is as important a development as CD technology itself. Each bird song has been precisely coded with a number. Using the random access feature selector on your CD player will let you punch in this number and give you access to that particular bird song no matter where it lies on the CD track. Cueing is now as easy as pushing a button.
