

Table of Contents

Preface	7
I. Introduction: The Generic and Genetic Relationship Between the Short Story and Drama. Ways of Integration	9
II. The Coincidence of Culmination in the Short Story and the Short Play	14
1. Chekhov, A Defenceless Creature – The Anniversary	14
2. Conrad, The End of the Tether. O'Neill, Warnings – S.O.S. – Hughie	17
III. The Cascade Connection of Narrative-Dramatic Units in Long Plays	29
1. Chekhov, Platonov – Ivanov – The Duel	29
2. O'Neill, Servitude – A Moon for the Misbegotten	36
IV. The Concurrence of the Narrative and Dramatic Climaxes in Multiple-Act Plays	51
1. Chekhov, The Sea-Gull – Uncle Vanya – The Murder – The Beauties – About Love – A Dreary Story	51
2. O'Neill, Mourning Becomes Electra – A Touch of the Poet	57
V. The Mosaic Design	68
1. Chekhov, My Life – Gooseberries – On Official Duty – In The Ravine – Three Sisters – The Betrothed – The Cherry Orchard	68
2. Conrad, Tomorrow – One Day More. O'Neill, Tomorrow – The Iceman Cometh	89
VI. Conclusion: Chekhov and O'Neill	118
O'Neill, Long Day's Journey Into Night	118
Notes	157