Contents

	Introduction	7
1	From traditional crafts to industrial art	10
2	Industrialization and the search for harmony	27
3	The 'American system' and mass-production	50
4	Standardization and rationalization	68
5	Art and industry in the early twentieth century	85
6	The emergence of professional industrial design	105
7	The introduction of streamlining	120
8	Corporate design and product identity	127
9	Technological innovation and design for the home	145

10 Play, learning, work and leisure 157

11 Mass-production and individual choice 176

12 Design and politics 182

Conclusion 201

Select bibliography 209

Index 214