

CONTENTS

- List of Illustrations · ix
Preface · xi
Preparation of the Maps · xiii

I. ENVIRONMENT AND TERRITORY · 3

- 1.1. The Geographical Region of Central America · 4
- 1.2. The First Geographical Records: Explorers and Chroniclers, 16th–17th Centuries · 6
- 1.3. The Second Age of Discovery: Geographical Knowledge during the Enlightenment · 8
- 1.4. From Travelers to Geographers, 19th–20th Centuries · 10
- 1.5. The Geological Base · 12
- 1.6. Landscapes · 14
- 1.7. Climates · 18
- 1.8. Vegetation and Soils · 20
- 1.9. Life Zones · 22
- 1.10. Environmental Hazards · 24
- 1.11. Natural Resources · 26
- 1.12. Bridge and Isthmus · 28
- 1.13. Central America in the Spanish Empire · 30
- 1.14. The Birth of New Countries: Spanish Organization of Territory until 1785 · 32
- 1.15. Central America on the Margin of the British Empire · 34
- 1.16. British Settlements, 1629–1821 · 36
- 1.17. A Revolution in Government: From Bourbon Reforms to Independence, 1785–1821 · 38
- 1.18. Toward Separate Republics · 40
- 1.19. Central America and the Expansion of the United States · 42
- 1.20. British Colonialism, 1821–1981 · 44
  - 1.21. The Formation of the State of Panama · 46
  - 1.22. Boundary Disputes · 48
  - 1.23. The Search for Union · 50
  - 1.24. The Region and Its Confines · 52

2. PEOPLE AND PLACES: THE PATTERNS OF CULTURAL CHANGE · 55

- 2.1. Ancient Central America · 56
- 2.2. Maya Civilization · 58
- 2.3. An Ethnic Mosaic:
  - Indian Peoples and Cultures, c. 1500 · 60
- 2.4. The Patterns of Material Life, c. 1500 · 62
- 2.5. Chiefs and Kings: Polities on the Eve of Conquest · 64
- 2.6. The Spanish Conquest · 66
- 2.7. Shaping the Colonial World:
  - From Conquest to Pacification · 68
- 2.8. Spanish Towns and Early Encomiendas · 70
- 2.9. Congregaciones and Later Encomiendas · 72
- 2.10. The Spiritual Conquest · 74
- 2.11. The Decline of the Indian Population, 1500–1900 · 76
- 2.12. The Pattern of Settlement in the Late 16th Century · 78
- 2.13. Race and Culture in the Late 16th Century · 80
- 2.14. Black Slaves and African American Cultures · 82
- 2.15. New Towns and the Late Colonial Pattern of Settlement · 84
- 2.16. The Rise of the Mestizos: Socio-Racial Stratification in the Late Colonial Period · 86
- 2.17. Spaniards, Indians, Ladinos, and Blacks:
  - Regional Variations in the Late Colonial Period · 88
- 2.18. Languages and Acculturation in the Late 18th Century · 90
- 2.19. Population Growth and Distribution, 1778–1930 · 92
- 2.20. Migration and Colonization, 19th–20th Centuries · 94
  - 2.21. The Population Explosion · 96
  - 2.22. Cultures and the Nation-States, 19th and 20th Centuries · 98
  - 2.23. The Guatemalan Indians in the 20th Century · 100
  - 2.24. Indian Survival after Five Centuries · 102
  - 2.25. The Expansion of Settlement and Ethnic Relations, 16th–20th Centuries · 104

3. COLONIAL SOCIETIES · 107

- 3.1. Pax Hispanica: The Nature of Colonial Government · 108
- 3.2. The Power of the Church · 110
- 3.3. The Control of the Indians · 112
- 3.4. Indian Riots and Rebellions · 114
- 3.5. The Economy of Conquest · 116
- 3.6. Indian Tribute in the Mid-16th Century:
The Assessment by López de Cerrato, 1548–51 · 118
- 3.7. Haciendas and Mines: The Economy in the Late 16th–17th Centuries · 120
- 3.8. Transport along the Isthmus · 122
- 3.9. Transisthmian Routes · 124
- 3.10. The Economy of Western Panama and Supplies to Portobelo · 126
- 3.11. Commercial Networks: Routes and Ports · 128
- 3.12. Trade: Trends and Volume · 130
- 3.13. Fraud and Contraband · 132
- 3.14. Pirates · 134
- 3.15. Fortifications · 136
- 3.16. Later Entradas · 138
- 3.17. The Zambos Mosquitos: A Permanent Threat · 140
- 3.18. Colonial Wars to 1763 · 142
- 3.19. The Rise of the Military · 144
- 3.20. Central America and the War of American Independence, 1779–83 · 146
- 3.21. Agrarian Landscapes in the Late 17th Century: Totonicapán and the Valley of Guatemala · 148
- 3.22. Santiago de Guatemala, 1541–1773 · 150
- 3.23. Provincial Towns · 152
- 3.24. The Subsistence Base: Agriculture in the Late Colonial Period · 154
- 3.25. Stock Raising in the Late Colonial Period · 156
- 3.26. Exports and Regional Markets,
Late 17th and 18th Centuries · 158
- 3.27. Dyestuffs: Logwood and Indigo · 160
- 3.28. Outlets to the Sea: The Unsolved Problem · 162

4. THE FORMATION OF NATIONAL SOCIETIES · 000

- 4.1. The Opening of Markets and Trade · 165
- 4.2. From the Counter-Reformation to the Enlightenment · 168
- 4.3. The Independence Crisis · 170
- 4.4. The Civil Wars of the Federal Republic, Part One · 172
- 4.5. The Civil Wars of the Federal Republic, Part Two · 174
- 4.6. The Economic Transition · 176
- 4.7. Communications and Transport within the Isthmus in the Early 19th Century · 178
- 4.8. Regional Markets, 18th and 19th Centuries · 180
- 4.9. Liberals and Conservatives, Part One · 182
- 4.10. William Walker and the National War · 184
- 4.11. Liberals and Conservatives, Part Two · 186
- 4.12. Liberalism and Positivism · 188
- 4.13. The Expansion of Coffee Production · 190
- 4.14. Regional Variations in the Coffee Economies · 192
- 4.15. Coffee Haciendas and Beneficios · 194
- 4.16. The Privatization of Communal and Corporate Lands · 196
- 4.17. The Privatization of State Lands · 198
- 4.18. Shipping Lines · 200
- 4.19. Railroads and Ports · 202
- 4.20. The Expansion of Banana Production · 204
- 4.21. Moving Frontiers: Banana Plantations in Costa Rica · 206
- 4.22. Imperial Rivalries · 208
- 4.23. Interoceanic Transport: Competing Routes · 210
- 4.24. Interoceanic Transport: The Supremacy of Panama · 212
- 4.25. Interoceanic Transport: The Panama Canal · 214

5. THE CHALLENGE OF DEVELOPMENT · 217

- 5.1. The Organization of Modern States · 218
- 5.2. Provincial Government · 220
- 5.3. Local Government · 222
- 5.4. Oligarchic Rule · 224
- 5.5. Banana Wars · 226
- 5.6. Anti-Imperialism and Social Rebellion · 228
- 5.7. U.S. Interventions, 1936–79 · 230
- 5.8. The Search for Democracy, 1945–90 · 232
- 5.9. Reforms and Reaction · 234
- 5.10. Elections and Political Participation · 236
- 5.11. Workers and Peasants · 238
- 5.12. New Exports: Cotton, Sugar, and Beef · 240

- 5.13. Food Crops and Cattle Ranching · 242
- 5.14. Agrarian Reforms: Guatemala, Honduras, and Costa Rica · 244
- 5.15. The Expansion of the Road Network · 246
- 5.16. The Process of Urbanization · 248
- 5.17. Urban Areas · 250
- 5.18. Industrialization and Economic Growth · 252
- 5.19. Economic Integration in Historical Perspective · 254
- 5.20. Health and Education · 256
- 5.21. Inequality and Poverty · 258
- 5.22. Nationalism and Anticolonialism · 260
- 5.23. Uprisings and Guerrillas · 262
- 5.24. The Sandinista Revolution · 264
- 5.25. The Civil War in El Salvador · 266
- 5.26. Agrarian Reforms and Revolution: Nicaragua and El Salvador · 268
- 5.27. Peace and Reconstruction · 270
- 5.28. Migrants and Refugees · 272
- 5.29. Environmental Dilemmas at the End of the Millennium · 274

Notes · 276

Glossary · 280

Illustration Credits · 283

Notes on Sources for Maps, Tables, and Graphs · 285

Sources · 288

Index · 311