

Contents

Introduction 1

1 Naturalism and the Scientific Image 3

PART ONE Conceptual Understanding as Discursive
Niche Construction

2 What Is Conceptual Understanding? 39

3 Conceptual Understanding in Light of Evolution 86

4 Language, Social Practice, and Conceptual Normativity 131

5 Two Concepts of Objectivity 170

PART TWO Conceptual Articulation in Scientific Practice

6 Scientific Practice and the Scientific Image 201

7 Experimental Practice and Conceptual Understanding 222

8 Laws and Modalities in Scientific Practice 248

9 Laboratory Fictions and the Opening of Scientific Domains 287

10 Scientific Significance 317

Conclusion

11 Naturalism Articulated 345

Epilogue Naturalism and the Contingency of the Space of Reasons 377

References 387 Acknowledgments 407 Index 411