Contents

List of Figures vii
List of Tables viii
Acknowledgments ix
Contributors x

Introduction Kevin McDonald and Daniel Smith-Rowsey 1

Part 1 Technology, Innovation, and Control 13
1 Netflix and the Coalition for an Open Internet
Lyell Davies 15
2 Framing the Future of Media Regulation through Netflix
Alison N. Novak 33
3 Netflix and the Myth of Choice/Participation/Autonomy
Sarah Arnold 49
4 Imaginative Indices and Deceptive Domains: How Netflix's Categories and Genres Redefine the Long Tail
Daniel Smith-Rowsey 63
5 Catered to Your Future Self: Netflix's "Predictive Personalization" and the Mathematization of Taste
Neta Alexander 81

Part 2 Changing Entertainment 99
6 "Forward Is the Battle Cry": Binge-Viewing Netflix's House of Cards
Casey J. McCormick 101
7 The Cognitive Psychological Effects of Binge-Watching
Zachary Snider 117
8 Binge-Watching "Noir" at Home: Reimagining Cinematic Reception and Distribution via Netflix
Sheri Chinen Biesen 129
9 Netflix and the Documentary Boom
Sudeep Sharma 143

10 Seeing Blackness in Prison: Understanding Prison Diversity on Netflix's Orange Is the New Black
Brittany Farr 155

Part 3 The Business of Media Convergence 171

11 Questioning Netflix's Revolutionary Impact: Changes in the Business and Consumption of Television
Cameron Lindsey 173

12 Individual Disruptors and Economic Gamechangers: Netflix, New Media, and Neoliberalism
Gerald Sim 185

13 From Online Video Store to Global Internet TV Network: Netflix and the Future of Home Entertainment
Kevin McDonald 203

14 Streaming Transatlantic: Importation and Integration in the Promotion of Video on Demand in the UK
Sam Ward 219

15 Invading Europe: Netflix's Expansion to the European Market and the Example of Germany
Christian Stiegler 235

Index 247