

Contents

▶ and ○: see Introduction p. 9)

Introduction	1
1 Glimpsing the process	11
○ Composing aloud	11
2 Generating	17
2.1 Brainstorming	18
▶ 2.1.1 Brainstorming by the teacher	19
2.1.2 Brainstorming by the students	20
2.2 Using questions	22
2.2.1 Discovering: Using students' questions	22
Variation 1: Questions for sharing information about yourself
Variation 2: Questions for sharing information about countries
Variation 3: Questions for surveys
2.2.2 Discovering: Using given sets of questions	25
Variation 1: Cubing
Variation 2: Classical invention
Variation 3: The personal poster
Variation 4: The mixed bag of functions
Variation 5: The SPRE/R approach
Variation 6: The personal response approach
2.2.3 Focusing on what the reader needs to know	30
2.3 Making notes	33
2.3.1 Making unstructured notes	33
2.3.2 Making structured notes	34
2.4 Using visuals	35
2.4.1 Using single pictures	35
Variation: Using magazines

2.4.2	Using picture sequences	37
	Variation 1: Using readers
	Variation 2: Using cartoons
	Variation 3: Using abstract picture sequences
2.4.3	Completing maps and plans	41
2.5	Using role play/simulation	42
3	Focusing	44
3.1	Discovering main ideas	45
3.1.1	Fastwriting	46
3.1.2	Loopwriting	47
▶	Variation 1: Loopwriting by the teacher
	Variation 2: Loopwriting by students
▶3.1.3	Loopwriting and conferencing	48
3.2	Considering purpose	49
○3.2.1	Detecting writers' reasons for writing	49
	Variation 1: Writing a letter to a newspaper
	Variation 2: Same event, different angle
	Variation 3: Eyewitness accounts
3.2.2	Selecting and rejecting ideas	55
	Variation: Guessing the purpose
3.2.3	Sifting data	58
3.2.4	Transforming personal experiences	62
	Variation: Journal exchanges
3.2.5	Establishing a viewpoint	64
	Variation 1: Viewpoints on things
	Variation 2: Viewpoints on places
	Variation 3: Establishing an attitude
3.3	Considering audience	69
○3.3.1	Reconstructing the reader	69
	Variation 1: Using newspaper texts
	Variation 2: Using advertisement texts
3.3.2	Clarifying information	72
3.3.3	Sharing 'expert' knowledge	74
	Variation: Interviewing an expert
3.4	Considering form	75
○3.4.1	Comparing characteristics of text-types	75
○	Variation: Newspaper scan
3.4.2	Varying the form	77

4 Structuring	78
4.1 Ordering information	79
4.1.1 Grouping ideas into frameworks	79
4.1.2 Using statement prompts	83
4.1.3 Considering priorities	85
4.2 Experimenting with arrangements	89
4.3 Relating structure to focal idea	94
4.3.1 Personal anecdotes	94
4.3.2 People's lives and achievements	96
5 Drafting	99
▶ 5.1 Drafting by the teacher	100
5.2 Beginning, adding, ending	102
○ 5.2.1 Beginning and ending effectively	102
5.2.2 Considering ways of beginning	103
Variation 1: Matching openings and methods
Variation 2: Bad openings
5.2.3 Considering ways of ending	106
Variation: Completing texts
5.2.4 Adding information	108
Variation 1: Students supply information
Variation 2: Enlisting the help of the word processor
Variation 3: Using planning cue cards
5.2.5 Writing a complete text: The mini-saga	112
Variation: Competition texts
5.2.6 Writing a complete text: Group composition	114
6 Evaluating	116
6.1 Assessing the draft	117
6.1.1 Developing criteria for evaluation	117
6.1.2 Becoming your own critic	121
Variation: Listening to recorded drafts
6.2 Responding	124
▶ 6.2.1 Reading and responding: Teacher to student	124
6.2.2 Reading and responding: Teacher to class	128
6.2.3 Reading and responding: Student to student	130

6.3	Conferencing	131
▶6.3.1	Continuing and improving the draft	131
▶6.3.2	Responding to student self-evaluation	133
7	Re-viewing	136
7.1	Checking the context	137
7.2	Checking connections	138
7.2.1	Testing logical links	139
7.2.2	Testing cohesive links	144
○	Variation 1: Analysing cohesive devices in a text
○	Variation 2: Unscrambling
	Variation 3: Testing the cohesion of one's own text
7.3	Checking divisions	151
7.3.1	Segmenting	151
7.3.2	Paragraphing problems	154
7.3.3	Cutting-and-pasting	154
7.4	Assessing impact	156
7.4.1	Conveying mood, attitude and feeling	157
	Variation 1: Changing the impact
	Variation 2: Creating mood
	Variation 3: Using language to signal attitude
7.4.2	Signalling an opinion	161
7.4.3	Highlighting the focal idea	166
7.4.4	Adjusting the style	168
7.5	Editing, correcting and marking	172
▶7.5.1	Correcting the language	172
▶7.5.2	Dealing with trouble spots	174
7.5.3	Proof-reading and editing	174
▶7.5.4	Marking	175
▶7.5.5	Marking collaborative work	177
7.6	Taking final stock of the product	177
	Appendix 1: Illustration of a structuring process	179
	Appendix 2: A specification for evaluation criteria	182
	Appendix 3: An example of a feedback sheet	183
	Bibliography	186