

Contents

Foreword 7

1. Why we studied children learning 13
2. How we carried out this study 24
3. Learning at home: play, games, stories and 'lessons' 37
4. Learning at home: living and talking together 73
5. The puzzling mind of the four-year-old 102
6. Working-class verbal deprivation: myth or reality? 133
7. An afternoon with Donna and her mother 161
8. How the children fared at nursery school 180
9. The working-class girls, including Donna, at school 214
10. The gap between home and nursery school 235
11. Young children learning 249

Statistical appendix 269

Notes 277

Index of children 281

General index 283