

Contents

Preface and acknowledgements | vii

Map of the Congo | xii

1	Half a holocaust . . . . .	I
	The Congo death toll   3 The first Congo war   3 Africa's world war   5 Classifying and explaining the Congo wars   8 Nationalism and state collapse   10 Levels of analysis   12
2	The political economy of pillage . . . . .	24
	Rich Congo and its poor neighbours   24 Leopold's Congo   26 Belgium's model colony   28 The class structure of Belgian Congo   29 Neo-colonialism in Congo, 1960 onwards   31 The (brief) rise and (long) decline of the Zairian state   34 Partition and pillage   40
	The land   42 Class structure of contemporary Congo   42
	Conclusion: from Leopold II to Kabila II   44
3	'Congo must be sweet' – image and ideology in
	the Congo wars . . . . .	49
	The fevers of race   51 'Race' in the Great Lakes region   52 Looking for 'useful' natives   56 Looking for Constantine or Clovis   57 Reorganizing the state   59 History and ideology in Rwanda   60 Maps are territories   62 The 'science' of ethnographic maps   64 Ideologies of resistance to colonial rule   66 Resistance in Rwanda   71 Conclusion   73
4	War in South Kivu . . . . .	76
	The Banyamulenge in South Kivu   78 The Banyamulenge and the Belgians   80 The material and ideological basis of relations with neighbours   82 Gatumba and beyond   103
5	War in North Kivu . . . . .	106
	The Rwandophones of North Kivu   108 The Tutsi refugees of 1959 and thereafter   114 Recruitment of an African elite   115 The 'Provincette' of North Kivu   116
	Conflict in North Kivu in the nineties   118 Parallel state structures   128 Braçsage or integration of the army   130 Human rights defenders targeted   140 North Kivu and the transition   140

6 Congo and the 'international community' . . . . . I46
IGOs and INGOs in Congo: a long history | I47
The UN role in the convergent catastrophes | I50
Sex scandals in Congo | I61 UN 'experts' on pillage
and arms traffic | I62 The United Nations and the end of the Congo war | I64

7 After the war . . . . . I66
Registration, a political process | I66 Forty-six years of politics, recapitulated | I67 Conduct of the elections | I75
Putting Humpty Dumpty together again | I80 New constitution, same old problems? | I83 Rebirth of nationalism | I87 'Merci Kabila' | I90 Impunity | I93

Congo wars chronology | I99

Notes | 209 Index | 234