ALAN CURTIS

In his prize-winning Archiv series, Alan Curtis, "one of our finest conductors of Baroque opera" (Opera) now turns to Alcina, among Handel's richest and most inventive works. Leading a superb cast in her debut as the enchantress Alcina, Joyce DiDonato ("Such force, such lustre!" – The Times) sings the vocally and emotionally demanding title role in this 1735 masterpiece, which has deservedly become one of the most popular of all Handel's operas.
