

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Introduction	11
General issues	15
The (pre)historic background – in brief	23
Prehistory in archaeology and prehistory in practice	37
Not just stones	53
Archaeology, myths and archaeological myths	63
Longue durée symbols of elite status	75
A symbol for the dead of all ages	81
Analysed touchstones from Birka burials	87
Metals on touchstones from Birka and elsewhere	97
Nickel appearance ( Milan Holub and Martin Ježek )	109
On the limits of SEM analysis ( Milan Holub )	117
A lesson from the deep	123
Forgotten star witnesses, or Conclusion	145
The petrographic qualities of analysed touchstones from Birka burials, and their description ( Jan Zavřel and Martin Ježek )	155
Results of chemical microanalyses of the touchstones from selected burials at Birka: documentation	161
References	181
Index of places	217