CONTENTS

Notes on contributors vii

1 Introduction 1
Jean-François Bonnefon and Bastien Trémolière

PART I
Inputs 7

2 Is morality unified, and does this matter for moral reasoning? 9
Geoffrey P. Goodwin

3 Causal models mediate moral inferences 37
Michael R. Waldmann, Alex Wiegmann, and Jonas Nagel

4 The shadow and the tree: inference and transformation of cognitive content in psychology of moral judgment 56
Edward Royzman and John Paul Hagan

PART II
Processes 75

5 Reasons-based moral judgment and the erotetic theory 77
Philipp Koralus and Mark Alfano

6 The power of moral arguments 107
Hugo Mercier, Thomas Castelain, Nafees Hamid, and Bradly Marín-Picado

7 Dual processes and conflict during moral and logical reasoning: a case for utilitarian intuitions? 123
Wim De Neys and Michal Bialek

8 Utilitarian vs. deontological reasoning: method, results, and theory 137
Jonathan Baron

PART III
Outputs 153

9 Archimedes in the lab: can science identify good moral reasoning? 155
Regina Rini and Tommaso Bruni

10 Rationalization in moral and philosophical thought 170
Eric Schwitzgebel and Jonathan Ellis

11 Exile of the accidental witch: character and intention in an uncertain social world 191
Tage S. Rai

Index 206