

CONTENTS

- 1 Introduction: How Does Migration Take Place? 1
Tabea Linhard and Timothy H. Parsons
- 2 Walking to the Northern Mines: Mesoamerican Migration in New Spain 21
Laurent Corbeil
- 3 Big History and Local Experiences: Migration and Identity in a European Borderland 55
Jan Musekamp
- 4 Mapping Museums in New Zealand: The Representation of Place Identity in the Permanent Exhibition at the Puhoi Bohemian Museum 85
Christopher Sommer
- 5 Moving Barbed Wire: Geographies of Border Crossing During World War II 117
Tabea Linhard
- 6 Image and Imagination in the Creation of Pakistan 137
Lucy P. Chester

7	Jumping Tribal Boundaries: Space, Mobility, and Identity in Kenya	159
	Timothy H. Parsons
8	Movement After Migration: The Cultivation of Transnational Algerian Jewish Networks, 1962–1973	193
	Sara T. Jay
9	Silent Forced Migrations in Twenty-First-Century Jerusalem	217
	Meir Margalit
10	Defining Borders on Land and Sea: Italy, the European Union and Mediterranean Refugees, 2011–2015	233
	Djordje Sredanovic
11	B/ordering Turbulence Beyond Europe: Expert Knowledge in the Management of Human Mobility	257
	Maribel Casas-Cortés, Sebastián Cobarrubias, and John Pickles
12	The “Right to the City” in the Landscapes of Servitude and Migration, from the Philippines to the Arabian Gulf, and Back	283
	Dalal Musaed Alsayer
13	The Politics of Space and Identity: Making Place in a Suburban District	311
	Linling Gao-Miles
14	A Geographer’s Perspective on Migration, Identity and Space	331
	Russell King
	Index	357