Contents

Acknowledgments		ix
Preface		xi
PART ONE	A POLITICAL THEORY OF ECOLOGY	1
Chapter One	INTRODUCTION	3
	Definition of Ecology	4
	The Ecological Critique	6
	Ecologists and Greens	8
	The Ecological Box	13
Chapter Two	THE MANICHAEAN ECOLOGIST	22
	Spirit of Place, Spirit of Race	28
	Outside the Egg	29
	Marx as an Ecologist	31
PART TWO	A HISTORY OF ECOLOGY, 1880–1945	37
Chapter Three	BIOLOGY AND HOLISM	39
	Ecology; the Origins of the Word	39
	Haeckel the Ecologist	42
	Haeckel; his Background and Ideas	43
	The Religion of Nature	45
	Haeckel, Nature and Social Darwinism	48
	The Politics of Monistic Ecology	51

	Materialism and Vitalism	53
	Ethology; Lorenz and his Heirs	56
	Biological Ecology	61
Chapter Four	ENERGY ECONOMICS	64
	Scarce Resources and Solar Power	64
	Land, Productivity and the Planners	66
	Patriots and Peasants	68
	The Frontier Economy	71
	Resettling the Planet	74
	'All is Energy'	82
	Energy and Utopian Socialism	85
	The Benevolent Planners	88
Chapter Five	COMMUNES AND COMMUNARDS	92
Chapter Six	BACK TO THE NORTHLAND	104
	Green Shirts	105
	The Saxon Kinship	112
	Reconstructing Rural England	122
	Downland Man	125
	Fellowship of the North	130
Chapter Seven	THE LITERARY ECOLOGIST	133
	Introduction	133
	The Jefferies Tradition; 'The Sun Sees no Shadows'	134
	'The Rhine and its Ancient Tributary Thames'	136
	'And Life can Afford to be Wasteful'	150
Chapter Eight	WAS THERE A GENERIC FASCIST ECOLOGISM?	161
PART THREE	ECOLOGY: A GERMAN DISEASE?	175
Chapter Nine	THE CHILL OF THE FORESTS	177
	Was There a Generic German Naturism?	177

Chapter Ten	THE STEINER CONNECTION	195
	Methodology	195
	The Era of the Peasant	200
PART FOUR	THE NEW AGE	209
Chapter Eleven	GREENS, REDS AND PAGANS	211
	The Organic Farming Movement in England	215
	The Greens in Germany	219
	The American Movement	225
	Ecology in Europe	227
	'Pagans Against Nukes'	230
Conclusion	THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF ECOLOGISM	237
Notes		249
Bibliography		275
Index		285